Fireworks Ordinance Now in Effect

Karen DiDonato

On September 6, the new fireworks ordinance took effect. To legally use fireworks, consumers must now obtain a permit, which are available by contacting the Fire Department or by visiting <http://www.burningpermit.com/meGorham/>. Permits will not be issued on any day with a fire danger class above level three. Additionally, fireworks may not be used within 150 feet of any structure. The only days and times fireworks can be used are on July 3 from noon until 10 p.m., July 4 from noon until 11 p.m., December 31 from noon to 12:30 a.m. the following day, January 1 from noon until 10 p.m., and every Saturday beginning at noon until 10 p.m.

The ordinance is enforced by the Gorham Police Department. The penalty for violation is no less than $200.

To read the entire ordinance, visit http://www.gorham-me.org/Public\_Documents/GorhamME\_Codes/Fireworks

Former Library Moving to Windham

Sheri Faber

The South Windham Public Library closed in July after years of declining patronage. The building was originally a hose house for the South Windham Fire Station. It was moved to its current location across the river into Gorham in 1934 and converted into a library. The town of Gorham offered the property to any takers, but until recently there were no takers. Because the building is in poor condition, it was scheduled to be demolished if no one came forth with a viable plan before the September 4 Town Council meeting.

The Windham Historical Society recently announced plans to replicate an old village around a central green space on farmland the town purchased in Windham Center. They want to see the South Windham Library relocated to that site where it will be part of a Living History Center. The Historical Society asked the Gorham Town Council to donate the $3,000 they would have spent on demolishing the building, to the Windham Historical Society to help pay to move it to Windham Center Road and to build a new foundation. At the September 4 Town Council meeting, the Council voted to appropriate the money from the Capital Part 2 account.

Police Chief Recognized for 40 Years of Service

Police officers, town staff, Town Council members, along with some retired officers joined together to recognize Police Chief Ron Shepard for his 40 years with the Gorham Police Department. Town Manager David Cole thanked Shepard for his years of service and commented that he had to special order a pin recognizing Shepard's 40 years of service. The previous record holder was Police Officer David Kearns who retired after 40 years. Because Shepard is not planning to retire quite yet, he is on track to break the record for longest service to the town. Pictured in front are: Mark Sanborn, Brian Key, Michael Coffin. In back: Dana Thompson, Paul Dubay, Chris Sanborn, Wayne "Pooch" Drown, Ron Shepard, Robert Henckel, David Bruni, Danny Young.

November Election Referendums to Request Funds for Town Buildings

Robin Somes

On August 22 a Town Council Special Meeting was held to discuss and address two referendum items to go before the public in the upcoming November 6th election. The first referendum on the agenda entailed the amount of bonds to be issued for an intended, and renovation of the Public Safety Building located at 270 Main Street. The goal of this effort is to suitably accommodate police headquarters and a central fire station. The agenda item cited a proposed amount of $1,000,000 that would be provisioned through bonds, but after deliberations and consideration of details and conditions that presently exist, the amount was raised to $4,000,000.

The Council unanimously approved the amended referendum question with this figure.

The item also included stipulations for members of the resurrected Public Safety Building Committee that would oversee the project. The Council voted for the following:

- Any Councilor can serve on the Committee even after their terms have expired, and until the project is either completed or funds are depleted.
- The Committee is to include two community members to be determined mutually by the Council and Committee Chairs.

Enjoying Maine's Natural Beauty

Senator Phil Bartlett

For many of us, summertime is officially over once the yellow school buses appear back on the road. With the hot summer days of beaches and barbecues are just about behind us now, we transition ahead to fall fairs and boiled dinners. One of my favorite parts of the fall season is the colorful transformation of Maine's landscape.

Not surprisingly, Maine's fall foliage is a popular attraction for many residents and out-of-state visitors. As part of an effort to promote Maine's natural beauty during this time of year, and to help "leaf peepers" find the best opportunity to view the foliage, the state offers an official fall foliage website. In fact, through the efforts of the Department of Conservation back in 1996, Maine was the first state to post the foliage reports.

The Maine Foliage website provides information about the current foliage conditions in different zones around the state along with recommendations of when and where to visit for peak leaf peeping opportunities. Maine Foliage also offers information about driving tours for those looking to make a scenic day trip, take part in nature walks and outdoor events, and visit popular destinations. The site includes information specific to each region of the state.

To stay informed about the ever-changing foliage, Maine Foliage generates a weekly report for each zone from mid-September through the end of peak leaf season in the state. For anyone interested in following the foliage reports, they can sign up to receive a weekly email or follow Maine Fall Foliage on Facebook to learn more about the peak scenic areas.

Those of us in Gorham are located in Zone 1 and our foliage historically tends to peak in early- to mid-October. But, if you are looking to spend some time traveling around the state, northern Maine tends to experience peak leaf colors right about now. It is also an opportunity to support our local apple orchards and farms.

Maine Foliage can be found online at: www.maine-foliage.com.

Maine's quality of life and natural beauty are tremendous assets, and the fall season really accentuates those qualities. It is a large part of what makes Maine an attractive state to reside and visit. Enjoy the fall.

Letters to the Editor

Letters must be less than 300 words, signed with a first and last name, typed or e-mailed and include a phone number. Letters are solely the opinion of the writer and not that of the Gorham Times. They are published at the discretion of the Gorham Times and are subject to editing.

Dear Gorham Times,

The other day someone asked me why I was supporting Andrew McLean for the House of Representatives in Gorham, and I didn't know where to begin with my reasons. There are many!

First, I like Andrew. In our initial conversation about his wish to represent me in Augusta, I was convinced he cares about me. Not just me—he cares about all of us and he is willing to listen to what we all hope for our children, our young adults, our families, and for our seniors. He shares our concerns about our economy, healthcare, the environment, as well as education and employment opportunities for Mainers.

While it is important for me to like a candidate and to know that candidate shares my concerns, it is equally important for me to know my choice can set appropriate priorities that support a better future for all Mainers.

Andrew McLean has set priorities. He will support efforts that invest in education, so our children acquire the basics to become better thinkers and problem solvers. He will support efforts to expand renewable energy, so Mainers can access affordable and clean electricity and heat. He will work with others to make sure our community colleges and universities prepare their students for the changing job market. He will strive to keep healthcare available and affordable for all of us, and he will not support any move to increase taxes on lower income Mainers.

If you have not yet had a chance to talk with Andrew, open the door when he comes to your house, or participate in one or more of the upcoming round-table discussions. He will listen to your hopes and concerns, and he will respond.

These are some of the many reasons I like Andrew and will vote for him in November.

Virginia Wilder Cross

Dear Gorham Times,

The November 6th election may seem like it's a date way off in the future. However, I recently met Andrew McLean and liked what he offers as a candidate to represent Gorham voters in the Maine House of Representatives. Despite the summer heat, he made me think about the values I want in my representative.

He's committed to Gorham and shows it by his consistent hard work and active role in our community. His family background taught him the importance and value of service and he lives it.

In talking to him, I appreciated how well he listens. He is interested in both the issues and in the people who are struggling with the impact the issues have on them. He learns about an issue by hearing folks out, asking questions, and weighing facts. He "gets" that most issues are complex and require careful thought and the willingness to hear and reflect on multiple points of view. He knows that solutions to problems come from informed, flexible, and creative thinking.

Take a few minutes to talk with Andrew. He's working hard to meeting voters in neighborhoods all over District 129. Once you meet him, you'll appreciate his values, too.

Steve Buxton

Dear Gorham Times,

The home about to be razed on Main Street in Gorham was in my family for over 100 years, and is a cherished place for all of us—full of memories binding us all together through generations. It had to be sold when my grandmother became too frail to care for it, but I guess we always thought it would be cared for and appreciated, no matter who owned it. My great great grandfather ran a tailor shop from that house; my mother and her sisters grew up there. Many a Fourth of July parade was viewed from those steps, with my grandmother inviting neighbors in for coffee and donuts. Countless family pictures have been taken on that porch, and the childhood memories we all have of that old house inhabit our hearts and our dreams. The house can be seen in old photographs of the village, many of them in the Gorham Historical Society's collection. Through all the changes that have come to Gorham over the years, there stands the house, a fixture of the town, a part of its history.

To think that the very town my family has so loved would now turn the property into a parking lot is heartbreaking, and seems such a waste. Its location on Main Street is an ideal one for any kind of business. Surely there is someone out there who could appreciate its history and location. Having stood in Gorham since the early 1800's should surely count for something, and I would think the town would want to preserve what has stood for so long. I am dismayed and saddened that a piece of asphalt would hold more value than a piece of its past. The Gorham I thought I knew would certainly reconsider.

*Sincerely,
Lisa Hebert Burke*

The town received a $24,210 dividend check from Maine Municipal Association. The dividend is the result of the town's good loss experience and loss prevention programs for Property and Casualty Insurance and Workers Comp Insurance.

The town closed on the property located at 10 Preble Street and now owns that property as well as the property at 21 Main Street, with plans to use both sites for parking in the village.

BUSINESS PROFILE

Agency on Aging Opens New Location at St. Anne's

Jackie Francis

The Southern Maine Agency on Aging (SMAA) has a new office located at St. Anne's Catholic Church in Gorham. This non-profit agency is here to provide older adults and their families with information ranging from Medicare options to prescription drug programs to rent rebates. "As part of a community development block grant," Benefits Specialist Owen O'Donnell says, "SMAA is bringing its services to Gorham one day a week for seniors, thus saving them from having to travel to our Scarborough office."

The services and resources that SMAA offer are many. They provide health insurance counseling with respect to Medicare, Medicare Part D, Medical Supplemental Insurance, Medicare Advantage, Maine Care and private insurance plans. For those who qualify, SMAA offers adult day services, bill-paying assistance, independent housing services, and caregiver support, which can provide valuable time off for family caregivers. Meals on Wheels, Community Cafes and even grocery shopping assistance are additional support services that are provided to qualifying seniors.

"Most of what I do is related to Medicare," says O'Donnell, "particularly from October 15 through December 7 each year when Medicare Part D (prescription drug coverage) has its open enrollment period. This is a good time to review your benefits and determine if you are receiving the best plan relative to its cost." Another area that may benefit seniors is the Property Tax and Rent Refund program also known as the "Senior Circuit Breaker Program," which offers property tax assistance to qualifying seniors.

For soon to be retirees who are computer literate, Medicare.gov is the official government website that will take you on a step-by-step tutorial regarding when and how to receive Medicare benefits. For the less computer savvy, O'Donnell highly recommends attending SMAA's free two-hour Medicare seminar at its Scarborough office on Route 1. "Everything you ever wanted to know about Medicare but were afraid to ask is covered," says O'Donnell. "And then I can help you pick out the best plan, but first you have to enroll."

The Southern Maine Agency on Aging not only offers a wide range of programs and services for older adults, but also offers volunteer opportunities for those individuals who want to give back and help others in the community. "Training is provided and clients are very accepting of volunteers," explains O'Donnell. "I get a great deal of satisfaction from helping people and saving them money." For more information or to make an appointment, call SMAA at 396-6500 or (800) 427-7411.

Lettuce Be Healthy

Barbara T. Schneider

As the summer season comes to a close, we must gear up for the fall fanfare of kids' school schedules, cold weather and fall leaf raking. Of course fall also brings the joy of football games, comfort food and getting together with friends. It is important to enjoy these dwindling summer days, and that means having a few recipes up your sleeve.

The following healthy recipes are easy on the wallet, take minimal time and effort to prepare but pack a big punch of flavor. They can also be made ahead of time and enjoyed warm or at room temperature.

Questions about the recipes can be e-mailed to Barbara Schneider at bts@maine.rr.com.

Crab Cakes

- 16 oz lump crab meat (use small Maine shrimp instead - or lobster if you like!)
- 1/2 cup panko crumbs
- 1/4 flat leaf parsley, chopped
- 1/4 cup mayonnaise
- 1 egg
- 1/4 tsp Old Bay seasoning
- 2 scallions, chopped

Mix all ingredients, shape into desired patty size (use muffin tin for small appetizer size), wrap and refrigerate for at least 30 minutes.

To sauté, heat 2 Tbsp. oil in pan and brown patties on both sides. Drain and serve with remoulade sauce. To oven bake; preheat oven to 350 degrees, bake on oven sheet for about 12 minutes until golden. Serve with remoulade sauce (recipe below).

Brussels Sprouts & Kale Salad

- 2 bunches kale, center stem discarded, julienned
- 1 pound Brussels sprouts, trimmed and very thinly sliced
- 1/2 cup coarsely chopped almonds (or as a variation try toasted pumpkin seeds)
- 1 cup grated Parmesan
- 1 cup Lemon Dressing (or to taste; recipe below)

Toast chopped almonds for about 10 to 15 minutes in oven (low temp) or in sauté pan over burner until golden brown. Set aside and cool.

In a large mixing bowl, combine kale, Brussels sprouts, Parmesan and almonds. Slowly toss with dressing, a little at a time, until you have the desired amount.

Serving Size: Serves 4 to 6

Spicy Remoulade Sauce

- |                                 |                         |
|---------------------------------|-------------------------|
| 1 1/2 cup mayo                  | 1 tsp. horseradish      |
| 1/4 cup stone ground mustard    | 1/4 tsp. cayenne pepper |
| 2 garlic cloves, finely chopped | 1/4 tsp hot paprika     |
| 1 Tablespoon pickle juice       | 1/2 tsp. hot sauce      |
| 1 Tablespoon capers             |                         |

Blend all ingredients. Refrigerate for an hour or two to let seasonings blend.

Makes 1 1/2 cups

Lemon Dressing

- 1 shallot, peeled and chopped
- Small bunch/handful fresh basil
- 1 bunch flat leaf parsley stems removed
- 1/4 cup fresh lemon juice
- 1 3/4 cup extra virgin olive oil
- Salt & pepper to taste

In bowl or food processor, combine shallot, parsley, lemon, juice and salt. With motor running, slowly add olive oil. Salt & pepper to taste.

Serving Size: Makes about 4 1/2 cups

Bloody Mary Shrimp

- 1 1/2 lb medium or large shrimp, cleaned deveined
- 1/2 cup Clamato juice
- 1/4 cup vodka
- 1/2 tsp. red pepper sauce
- 1/2 tsp. sugar
- 1/2 tsp. celery salt
- 2 Tbsp. fresh parsley, chopped
- 1 cup spicy cocktail sauce
- 1/4 cup green olives, finely chopped

Pat dry defrosted shrimp, place in a layer in container with lid. Heat Clamato juice, vodka and pepper sauce to boiling over med-high heat. Stir in sugar, reduce heat and simmer for 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Stir in celery salt and parsley, pour over shrimp. Cover and refrigerate for 2-3 hours.

State Representative Linda Sanborn Receives Awards

Gorham Times Staff

The Maine Chapter of the American Academy of Pediatrics is honoring Rep. Sanborn as Legislator of the Year. This award is presented to a legislator “who has demonstrated a commitment to policy that will improve the quality of life and delivery of health care to children and youth in Maine.” Sanborn was recognized for her work on “furthering health care reform, supporting universal immunizations and advocating for adequate budgets to meet the needs of children and families in our state.”

Sanborn said, “I am most honored to receive this recognition from two outstanding health care organizations. Prevention, population health and education are essential in improving our quality of life and our economy.”

The Breathe Easy Coalition presented their Smoke-Free Environments Champion Award to Rep. Sanborn for “outstanding legislative leadership on smoke-free environments as well as supporting general tobacco prevention and cessation efforts across the state.”

Additionally, Sanborn, earned top marks from the non-partisan Maine Conservation Voters for her votes to protect Maine’s natural resources during the past year.

“I’m proud to cast my votes to protect our environment,” said Sanborn. “Clean air, clean water, and healthy forests mean more jobs and a better place to live for all Mainers.”

Sanborn represents District #130 covering parts of Gorham and Buxton.

Chief Shepard Reports

The Grand Jury returned the following indictments in August:

- Michael Hartley, 37, of Gorham was indicted for operating after license revocation on charges brought by Gorham Police Department.
- Kevin Sawyer, 26, of Gorham was indicted for operating after license revocation and failure to give correct name to officer on charges brought by Portland Police Department.
- John Vernon, 28, of Saco was indicted for three counts of robbery, three counts of stealing drugs, eluding an officer, reckless conduct, criminal speed and operating after suspension on charges brought by Gorham Police Department.

In addition to these indictments, Jaime Coughlin, 37, of Gorham was arrested for two burglaries on Sebago Lake Road. Police received a call about a burglary in progress and found Coughlin in the area. Coughlin, who was already on probation, also confessed to a second burglary on Sebago Lake Road.

Town Buildings FROM PAGE 1

- Three members of the Town Council should be included in the Committee at any given time. For example there can be more than three members on the Committee allowing for Council members whose terms have expired to continue on the Committee along with three existing Council members.
- The Town Manager and Police/Fire Chiefs will act as Ex Officio members of this project, and will provide the resources necessary for the Committee to complete the project.

Chair Brenda Caldwell and Councilors Michael Phinney and John Pressey were unanimously voted to serve on the Public Safety Building Committee.

The second item on the agenda concerned a similar referendum, smaller in scale, to seek approval by public vote to issue $500,000 in bonds to make necessary repairs to the former Little Falls School for it to continue as a community center. Any remaining funds would be allotted toward improvements and maintenance of the Little Falls Recreation area at 668 Gray Road. The item was approved 5-2 (Councilors Phinney and Matthew Robinson).

This agenda item was also amended to institute a committee to oversee the project. As it reads, three Councilors are to be determined who will serve on the Little Falls Building Committee, along with two members of the community, with the Town Manager and Recreation Director acting as Ex Officio members to provide the resources necessary to the Committee to complete the project.

The Council voted unanimously to hold a Public Hearing to engage and inform the public about these referendums. The Hearing will be held Tuesday, October 2 in the Burleigh H. Loveitt Council Chamber within the Municipal Center.

First Day of School

Wednesday, August 29 marked the first day of school for kindergarten, sixth and ninth grade students in Gorham, and students in all grades returned to school on Thursday, August 30. Starting a new school year can bring mixed emotions, from teary-eyed parents who are reluctant to send off their kindergarteners to students who are more than happy to be reunited with friends and teachers. On hand to welcome back students at Village Elementary School was Assistant Principal Jodi Mezzanotte (above).

Brian McDougal is one happy dad...school is back in session!

GEF Kicks off Seventh Year Supporting Gorham Schools

Kristin Wentworth, GEF President

This fall marks the start of the seventh year that Gorham Education Foundation (GEF) has been supporting Gorham Schools, teachers, and students. GEF is dedicated to the pursuit of excellence in education in the Gorham public schools through supporting programs that encourage a thirst for knowledge, respect for the community and responsible citizenship. During the past six years, GEF has provided over $30,000 in grant funding to our educators for projects that promote excellence in education and student leadership. Funded projects are across all curriculum areas including music and the arts.

The types of projects funded by GEF include special field trips, equipment, guest speakers, teacher training that can be generalized to the school or teaching team, books that enhance the latest curriculum development, and many other projects that promote teachers' "Big Ideas" that would not be possible within the limits of the school budget.

GEF's work is made possible by people in our community through individual donations, community supported fundraising events, special initiatives, and business sponsorships. Fundraising efforts planned for this school year include the Fourth Annual Frederick Robie Cup Adult Spelling Bee, the Gorham Founders' Day Festival and ornament sales (Lovell Designs ornaments depicting Gorham Schools). More events are in the works - stay tuned!

This fall GEF will hold its fourth annual adult team spelling bee. This event is a fun, lighthearted fundraiser, and the major annual fundraising event for the organization. Up to twelve teams of three adults compete for the coveted Frederick Robie Cup. This event also includes silent and live auction items, a cash bar, and free appetizers. If you are interested in registering a team, or having your business sponsor this event, please contact GEF. Tickets will be on sale soon!

Your involvement in GEF will allow GEF to provide more support for our schools. If you are interested in board membership, volunteering to help with fundraising, or offering other services or support, please contact GEF at gorhamgef@gmail.com, by mail at PO Box 295, Gorham, or by phone at 222-1009. Gorham teachers are encouraged to contact the organization anytime for information on obtaining grants, or to give us your ideas for programming and projects that would benefit our schools. Gorham Educational Foundation is a 501 (c)(3) non-profit organization, and all donations are tax deductible.

Search and Rescue Dogs Important to Wilderness Searches

Stacy Sallinen

Search and rescue dogs can be man's best friends, but they also play an important role in locating a missing person, a distressed boater or injured or lost hiker.

Since 1983, the Maine Search and Rescue Dogs (MESARD) have been assisting the Maine Warden Service during wilderness and water searches. Approximately twenty MESARD teams are located around the state, each consisting of a highly skilled handler and search dog. In order to be certified by MESARD, both must go through vigorous training and show proficiency in real-life search and rescue scenarios, including CPR, first aid, land navigation, radio communications, wilderness survival, crime scene preservation and ground search techniques. Training of a MESARD-certified dog can take up to two years. All dogs are certified in obedience and specialize either in air scent search, tracking and trailing, water search or human remains detection.

In August, Jim Bridge of MESARD, also a certified Flanker, Maine Guide and Wilderness First Responder, presented the video "Lost ... But Found, Safe and Sound" to elementary-aged children at the North Gorham Public Library. The program, developed by the Association of the National Park Rangers, Inc. shows children how not to get lost in remote areas, including parks or forests, how to stay comfortable if they do, and how they can be easily found.

David Hudson and his bloodhound, Pepsi, one of twenty Maine Search and Rescue Dog teams, sit with children learning how to stay safe in the wilderness. Pictured are (back row) Tega Bourgeois-Lang and Kathy Corbett; (middle row) Hudson Banks, Matt Sallinen, Evan Verrill, West Bourgeois-Lang, Pepsi, Hudson, Devin Clark and Griffin Clark; (front row) Sean Verrill.

During the demonstration, Bridge showed items that children should bring in a backpack while on a hike including whistles so they can be heard, a trash bag to wear to keep warm and dry, a snack and brightly colored bandana to hang from a tree limb. He stressed the importance of staying in one place and being visible to search and rescue teams. David Hudson and his almost four-year-old bloodhound, Pepsi, a certified tracking and trailing dog, were on hand to demonstrate how search and rescue dogs complete their job, sounding a bell to indicate that work is starting.

MESARD, a non-profit and all-volunteer organization, conducts an average of twenty-four searches a year. Its members donate their time and resources because of their strong dedication and love for the outdoors.
