9,000 Gallons Oil, Kerosene Spilled

By SHERI FABER
Staff Writer

On Wednesday, June 11th at about 2 p.m. a tractor-trailer carrying 6,500 gallons of diesel fuel and 3,000 gallons of kerosene rolled over at the rotary on Route 114 in Gorham. That section of the road was closed throughout the evening commute and re-opened Thursday morning.

The driver, Fred Bird, was not injured nor was a truck driver trainee who was a passenger. Bird told police he attempted to avoid hitting a sedan that pulled in front of him, which is what caused him to lose control. Witnesses confirmed Bird's version of the accident.

The truck, owned by J.P. Noonan, a Gorham company, landed in a ditch and the truck's internal valve system failed. As a result, all but 600 gallons of fuel spilled onto the ground and ultimately into nearby wetlands. Gorham, Scarborough and South Portland Fire Departments responded to the initial spill. Police Chief Ron Shepard said when they arrived, "the oil was gushing out in torrents" and was running into the catch basin. South Portland, Hollis, Raymond and Gray, along with other area communities, sent tankers to the scene as a precaution since the area is not served by fire hydrants.

Emergency crews were successful in keeping the spill from entering the nearby Stroudwater River. It is expected to take a number of days for the Maine Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) and its subcontractor to clean up the almost 9,000 gallon spill.

The DEP along with Gorham Public Works and the State Department of Transportation have built temporary dams to allow the water to go through the drains, but not the oil. Work to remove contaminated soil will begin June 16th and will include cleaning the catch basins and removing some granite curbing to access contamination behind it. One lane will be closed to traffic while the work is being done. The DEP will also test the wells of four nearby homes for contamination.

Shepard noted this event had the potential to be a huge environmental disaster. "We train for all types of different scenarios to learn to work with other mutual aid participants, so when something like this happens, we all know what we are going to do."

Local and state police are investigating the crash to ensure Bird accurately kept his logbook and will assess his speed and any mechanical problems with the truck.

GHS Class of 2014: Recollections, Advice, Visions of Future

By EMILY LEWIS
GHS Intern

On June 8th the sun was radiant in the bright blue sky. It was a beautiful eighty-degree day that we cherish in our neck of the woods. Some basked at the beach, others listened to music at the Old Port Festival, but 215 seniors graduated from Gorham High School at Merrill Auditorium.

Two-by-two the students marched into the auditorium to the familiar sounds of "Pomp and Circumstance." The Gorham Police Department presented the colors and members from the Chamber singers sang the national anthem.

The principal, Chris Record, officially opened the ceremony with a speech congratulating the Class of 2014 on their accomplishments and wishing them well in the future.

He passed the ceremony off to class president Frankie Pappalardo who led his class three out of four years. He thanked his friends, family, the class, and his fellow officers who have all contributed to his success. Pappalardo lightheartedly reflected on memories of growing up alongside his classmates. "Little glimpses of the past have stuck into our minds," he said, and those minor details matter most. Through the homecomings, SATs, proms, bad books, long conversations, practices, and hours of homework, the class matured together from little kids to young adults.

noon with a metaphor comparing high school to the one-mile race walk. The first lap flies by, the second is a little bit harder, the third you fight through even though you want to give up, and the fourth and final lap is where everything counts and you are glad to have stuck it through. She related this back to her experience; the finish line for her was standing on stage at graduation. Turner advised her peers not to be afraid of chasing their dreams even if they seem impossible. Everyone has "finished the mile," and now they have the rest of their lives to run.

Poetry-Out-Loud state champion Charlotte Feinberg took the stage to recite the poem "A Brave and Startling Truth," by Maya Angelou. She moved the audience with her powerful delivery and sweet smile as she recited words about understanding the world around us and appreciating the ordinary.

Hannah LeClair shared her high school story of perseverance. LeClair managed to make honor roll and seek post secondary education while dealing with some personal issues. She attributed her accomplishment to her mother who

Master Plan for Main Street

By PATRICK AND CINDY O'SHEA

A public meeting was held by the Gorham Planning Department on June 9th to review the Main Street Master Plan and to gather feedback from business owners and residents on issues and opportunities to upgrade the downtown area. The panel presenting the updated report and taking public input consisted of four members: David Galbraith, Gorham Zoning Administrator, Thomas Poirier, Town Planner and two consultants from the engineering firm Wright-Pierce.

Approximately 50 members of the public attended and 12 gave feedback. Several residents from Green and Preble Streets suggested a crosswalk at the intersection of their streets and South Street. Another resident suggested local artisans could develop benches, bicycle racks and artwork in the downtown area. A suggestion was made to have more of a connection between the downtown and the USM campus. Concerns were expressed about the number of trucks still going through the downtown, even with the bypass. A resident expressed concerns about the proposed parking lot on Preble Street. She felt it could lead to noise, light, and trash pollution.

The original Main Street Master Plan was done in 1998 and the new plan will be an update of this plan. The new plan was funded by a federal grant of $21,000 and a town contribution of $4,000. The goals for the new plan are to:

- Improve aesthetics
- Unify the streetscape
- Improve pedestrian, bicycle and vehicular safety

Opportunity to support local business growth ahead

BY REP. ANDREW MCLEAN

Bold action to support Maine's small businesses and technology community is imperative for a more prosperous future. Small businesses and technology centers are the heart of Maine's economy, driving innovation in our state. This November, voters will have a chance to decide on a bond package to promote job creation, boost high-tech innovation and invest in clean water infrastructure.

The package, which totals near $50 million, was widely supported in both the House and Senate by Democrats and Republicans alike. It is a clear opportunity to spur job creation, especially at a time when Maine's job creation is only clawing forward.

Targeted businesses that are in an ideal position to create jobs would have better access to capital through proven financing programs that help these businesses expand. Other elements of the package build on Maine's natural advantages, such as the marine economy.

Farmers and foresters would be better prepared to fend off disease and threats posed by insects through a bond to improve a University of Maine research lab. The bonds would also boost Maine's biotech workforce training and push forward on state-of-the-art tissue regeneration research to improve human health. They would help transform our state into a national and global resource for medicine and cancer treatment research.

This November, voters will have a chance to decide on a bond package to promote job creation, boost high-tech innovation and invest in clean water infrastructure.

Finally, the bonds make essential investments in updating and maintaining Maine's water infrastructure so that our state's ecosystem continues to thrive and be healthy.

Clean drinking water, effective flood prevention infrastructure and habitat conservation all depend on a sound system of culverts and waterways. Fish, such as river salmon, have struggled to travel through Maine's rivers as a result of degraded culverts and dams.

The bond package would reverse this trend by equipping municipalities with greater resources to address these challenges.

Furthermore, for each dollar in the biotech and marine economy bonds, resources leveraged would be one to one. That rate increases to one-to-five for drinking water and wastewater system projects and jumps to one-to-sixteen for the small business financing bond. This means for every dollar we bond for drinking water and wastewater projects, we get a match of five dollars and every dollar we bond to help small businesses access the capital they need, Maine receives sixteen dollars.

In the wake of a recession, we can't sit by the sidelines and expect a quick recovery. The bond package voters will decide on this fall is an example of the kind of action needed to push our state back on track and get the economy rolling again. There is more work to be done but this is one small step to help small businesses access the capital they need to grow our economy.

Letter to the Editor

Letters must be less than 300 words, signed with a first and last name, typed or e-mailed and include a phone number. Letters are solely the opinion of the writer and not that of the Gorham Times. They are published at the discretion of the Gorham Times and are subject to editing.

Dear Gorham Times Editor:

As a parent of a student who graduated Sunday from GHS, I want to thank two of the young people who had the courage to give heart-felt speeches about challenges that many kids wouldn't have the nerve to mention. Hannah Leclair discussed her personal struggles and perseverance in the face of adversity and Jason Meuse addressed the "masks" we put on in order to fit in not only in high school, but also in life. These two beautiful and original speeches held my attention more than any other.

In an environment where accolades are heaped daily upon the "stars" of the school, we must remember that all kids are wonderful in their own right. All seniors were required to attend Senior Recognition Night, yet a large number of them sat patiently while the same handful of peers were repeatedly awarded scholarships. My daughter received honors and a scholarship also, but perhaps these scholarships could have been given out at Academic Awards night, thus not forcing the non-awarded seniors and their parents to sit for three hours listening to how wonderful their higher-achieving classmates were. Not all kids can participate or shine in every school activity or volunteer endlessly. School officials should consider what some of these other kids do outside of the school setting—caring for younger or disabled siblings, helping elderly neighbors, contributing to the family by working, surviving in abusive/dysfunctional households or perhaps even couch-surfing at a friend's house because home life is so unbearable. These things make them unable to even consider joining umpteen clubs and sports teams but they are still worthy of our recognition.

Thank you, Hannah and Jason, for your honest words. And to those of you who weren't recognized for being high school stars, your time will come. Aim high!

Soap Making: From Hobby to Career

By JACOB ADAMS
Staff Writer

Many people dream of turning their hobbies into a feasible and fun career. One local woman did just that.

Eileen Curtis began to dabble in soap making in 2009. Her friends and family enjoyed the hobby thoroughly while she worked at perfecting her craft. A year later she began to try to provide soap for the everyday consumer.

Curtis' family moved to Gorham in 1984 and was very impressed with the school system and the welcome they received. Although Eileen Curtis now resides in Hollis, her daughter-in-law, Becky Curtis, who delivers the Gorham Times, lives in town and wraps thousands of bars of soap a year.

Eileen Curtis' career at the time was in sales, so she struck out to see if she could start locally. Stopping at five gift shops, Eileen ended her first day selling soap with 425 ordered bars for three local shops. Thus Sunflower Hill Soap was born.

Having been making soap steadily since 2010, their best sellers are Treasures From the Sea, which is soap that looks very much like sea glass, and their children's line of soaps, which are clear with toys in the middle. The children's bars house anything from sharks and mermaids to fairies and frogs.

The soap is now sold in many gift shops in New England as well as many other southern and western states. Sunflower Hill's newest batch was brought about from a partnership with D.L. Geary Brewing Company. Now available are Geary's Pale Ale Soap, both in bar and liquid form and boasting high antioxidants and vitamin B. Despite the name and the ingredient, the soaps do not smell too beery.

Sunflower Hill Soap is also participating in the Neighbor Made program at Goodwill. They have created Saco River Soap specifically for the Neighbor Made sections at local Goodwill stores. For more information and a list of stores that carry Sunflower Hill Soap, visit sunflowerhillsoap.com.

MUNICIPAL

JUNE 3, 2014

Town Council Report

BY ROBIN SOMES
Staff Writer

At June's Town Council meeting, the Council approved the fiscal year 2014-2015 budget for Gorham, at a total figure of $47,535,427.

The overall budget breakdown is as follows:

Municipal General Government	$1,390,682
Public Safety	$3,754,822
Public Works/Solid Waste/Engineering & Inspection Services	$2,279,144
Health & Welfare and Social Service Agencies	$98,900
Recreation/Community Center/Cable	$417,524
Libraries and Museum	$454,232
Development	$65,843
Debt & Interest	$1,450,218
Capital Items	$329,800
Insurance and Employee Benefits	$2,015,295
Other Town Services and Unclassified	$192,150
Municipal Subtotal	$12,448,610
Cumberland County Property Tax Subtotal	$934,677
School budget for FY 2014-2015	$34,152,140
Total	$47,535,427

The municipal figure of $12,448,610 is an increase of $135,437, or 1.1% over last year's figure of $12,313,173. The Cumberland County property tax amount of $934,677 is an increase of $46,533, or 5.24% over last year's figure of $888,144. The School Budget figure of $34,152,140, which makes up almost 72% of the total budget, is an increase of $1,234,012, or 3.75% over $32,918,128 from last year, and the total budget figure of $47,535,427 is an increase of $1,415,982 or 3.07% increase over last year's total budget figure of $46,119,445. This represents an increase to Gorham's tax rate of approximately 25 cents per $1,000 of property valuation.

Prior to the 7-0 vote to approve the FY 2014-2015 budget, the Council discussed and voted on individual items. A 6-1 (Suzanne Phillips) vote approved an additional $17,903.52 to the budget for funding a part-time Animal Control Officer. A unanimous vote approved $23,600 for acquiring police video cameras with the funds to be taken from the DEA Reserve Account. $2,500 was approved unanimously for funding New Year Gorham, after being reduced from the $4,000 initially proposed in the budget. The Council also voted unanimously to have $50,000 taken from the roadwork funds and re-allocated to address items that might result from requirements or recommendations of the Parking Study.

In approving the budget, the Town Council also approved recommendations made by Town Manager David Cole. According to the agenda item, this would "re-appropriate $266,467.37 from several reserve accounts for additional road work, return funds left in the Little Falls Rec. Master Plan account to the Recreation Impact Fee account, and appropriate $10,000 for the Public Works/DEP Site Permit account to a Recycling Reserve Account." In addition, budget approval would give the thumbs up to "re-appropriate $160,000 for an emergency reserve fund, $12,000 for Longfellow Bridge repairs, $3,500 for a regional Fire & EMS Study and $2,000 for an Automotive Diagnostic Unit." It was stressed that re-appropriating existing funds would have no effect on the tax rate.

In other action, the Council voted:

- 7-0 to officially receive the Gorham Parking Study final report as prepared by Terrence J. DeWan and Associates.
- 7-0 to refer a proposal to amend Chapter 1, Section IX Gorham Village Center District to allow creative parking solutions to the Ordinance Committee for their recommendation.
- 7-0 to approve the School Committee's proposed school budget for FY 2014-2015.

Planning Board Minutes

By SHERI FABER
Staff Writer

At the April meeting, the Planning Board addressed the following items:

- An overlay district was created for Wassamki Springs Campground allowing for continued operation of an existing business. Campgrounds are not otherwise permitted in Gorham.
- The Board held a public hearing on the town's plans to improve the athletic fields at Little Falls Recreational Facility. Because the town has limited funds for this project, they are starting with improving playing surfaces at Little Falls. Parking improvements and other upgrades are planned for the future. Further review was tabled pending responses to remaining issues and a site walk.
- Peter Lyford, Inc. requested after-the-fact approval for an 11,297 square foot gravel pad and construction of a storm water treatment swale to serve the gravel pad at 54 Olde Canal Way. The Board granted approval for the after-the-fact gravel storage pad and drainage swale.

- John and Cindy Kennie requested approval of a 159-foot private way to serve one lot off Mighty Street. The Kennie's grandparents own a 73-acre parcel and wanted to give a 2.05-acre parcel to their grandson. The name of the private way was changed from Whitetail Drive to Whitetail Way.

- Sam Strumph Senior's request for approval of a 153-foot private way off North Street was approved.

- Avesta Housing plans to build Ridgewood II at 99 School Street. It will either be a three-story building with 24 apartments for seniors or a four-story building with 31 senior apartments and will be built in front of the existing Ridgewood building. The north entrance to the property will be closed and the south entrance will be widened. Avesta is waiting to hear if they will be getting funding from Maine Housing; if they do, construction could start in Spring 2015.

- Berube Builders plans a 10-lot subdivision with public water on 21.83 acres off 101 Longfellow Road in the rural district. A 1500-foot public road will serve the subdivision.

Nine GHS athletes earned points in the girls' and boys' State Class A Track & Field Championships June 7th as the girls tied for eighth as a team and the boys finished tenth. The following are all Gorham athletes who earned points by placing among the top seven in their events:

 Laura Turner, 2nd, 1600-meter racewalk, 8:02

Drew York Earns Top National Racewalk Ranking

By JEFF PIKE
 Gorham Times Sports Editor

GHS junior Drew York reached the pinnacle of high school track & field this spring as he achieved a #1 national ranking for 2014 in the one-mile racewalk as determined by the High School Race Walking organization. York's one mile time of 7:04.2—converted from the 1600-meter distance at which Maine racewalkers compete—is nearly four seconds faster than the #2 ranked racewalker.

York's achievements this spring for GHS, which included winning the Western Maine Class A racewalk championship and finishing second in the State Class A racewalk, qualified him for the New Balance Nationals one-mile racewalk championship in North Carolina on June 13. At that meet, York finished second with a time of 7:21.53 to earn All-American status as one of the top finishers.

Joining York as an All-American was GHS teammate Sean Pratt, a sophomore who finished sixth with a time of 8:02. Fellow GHS sophomore Spencer Linscott finished eighth with a time of 8:30. Gorham was also represented in the girls' race where senior Laura Turner finished 13th with a time of 8:34.56.

As evidenced by these results, Gorham High School is a premier team when it comes to the national racewalk scene. Led by coaches Jason Tanguay (boys) and John Caterina (girls), Gorham has dominated Maine racewalk events in recent years and several racewalkers have performed well at the national level.

In commenting on York's performance, Tanguay says, "Drew really exploded this season. The past two seasons, he has been a good racewalker, but this year he gained a better understanding of how to push the fine line between running and walking. Drew has committed to this event, and his competitive spirit is blossoming—the fierce side of him has taken over."

Starting out his track career focusing on middle-distance running events, York started racewalking as a freshman after reading an instruction packet Tanguay handed out during the outdoor track season. "I had not even heard of the event before," York says. "But I gave it a try and was surprised at how well I did."

#1 in the Nation: GHS junior Drew York, shown above from a track meet earlier this spring, achieved the #1 ranking this year in the one-mile racewalk across the entire US—as determined by the High School Race Walking organization. York competed in the New Balance National Racewalk Championship June 13 where he finished second and earned a designation as an All-American. His GHS teammate, Sean Pratt, finished sixth to also earn All-American status.

In 2013, York was ranked seventh nationally, but he moved up the list this year based on his best time in the 1600 meters, 7:01, an improvement of 34 seconds compared to his best time in 2013. York also set the SMAA conference racewalk record this year.

"Some of my performance improvement came out of instruction from a coach that Mr. Tanguay brought in (former US World Cup Racewalk coach—Dr. Thomas Eastler). He talked about how to use our arms, and I also changed the shoes I used. That combination helped me improve."

York is considering competing in the racewalk in college after he graduates in 2015, and one of the reasons he went to the nationals this year was to compete in front of college coaches. "My next goal is to break the seven-minute mark," York adds. "After that, I hope to lower my time as close as I possibly can to the six-minute mark."

has supported her all along. LeClair demonstrated what everyone had been speaking about that afternoon; she didn't let a few obstacles deter her success and showed the audience her strength.

The valedictorian Jason Meuse spoke next and thanked everyone in the class, or his "dysfunctional family," for the memories and continuous support. He took a different approach to his graduation speech, commenting on a flaw of human society rather than recalling high school memories. Meuse described the "masks" everyone wears that hide themselves from the world. He described how underneath the mask we are all vulnerable, sensitive, and complete individuals and we should celebrate the differences rather than judge them. He gave an ode to his twin brother, Tim, who takes the time to be kind and thoughtful instead of seeing the masks.

Chloe Gray and Eric DeLuca led their fellow chamber singers in singing the song "Tribute" by Five O'clock Shadow. It was the last time the twelve seniors would perform together, and they picked a song that was a tribute to life as friends.

Social studies teacher James Welsch was the guest speaker. He began his path at Gorham High School at the same time as the graduating class did, so he empathized with their feelings. His speech told a story about John Sedgwick, a Union Army general, who was killed because of his hesitance to take advice. This portrayed Welsch's lesson to always listen to others and be humble. There will be many times when obstacles will discourage you, but coming together with kindness, confidence, and humility can overcome any challenge.

After diplomas were awarded, Stacey Anderson, the class advisor, closed the ceremony. She gave a heartfelt speech to the students recognizing the officers for their hard work, and said it felt like she had more than one son and many daughters in this class whom she loved dearly.

Together the class sang "Back Home," by Andy Gramer and, with that, the Gorham High School seniors became alumni.

Ear-Piercing Peepers

Longfellow Road caller reported fireworks. Officer checked out the area and did not hear any fireworks, just loud peepers.

Several officers responded to a party at Dundee Dam. Officers found 30 vehicles and more than 60 people at the site. They made sure there was a sober driver for each vehicle and broke up the party. The Fire Department came and extinguished a bonfire. Sappi was notified of the incident.

Caller stated that the three males who rent his house on Waterhouse Road have done damage to the house and the property around the house. Officer knocked on the door, but no one would answer. Caller was told to file civil paperwork against these subjects.

Dispatch advised they had a report of a male chasing a female with a gun on Louise Street.

Officer responded to a vehicle off the road on Rt. 114. Driver was arrested for OUI, operating after suspension and operating without a license.

Subject called 911 because she wanted the police to tell her boyfriend's 80-plus-year-old mother that "it's too bad that she and her son are sleeping together." All parties were adults. She was advised this was not a police matter and warned for the misuse of 911 for a non-emergency.

Officer was dispatched to Fort Hill Road to meet with a woman who stated she had proof that her ex-husband had gained access to her iCloud accounts.

Forest Circle caller wanted her neighbor reminded of the 50-foot restriction in the protection order she had against him. He was walking his dog in his yard while she was standing on her porch. He did not say anything to her.

Dispatch requested an officer review a threatening complaint received from County Road. Caller reported she was afraid a male may show up at her house attempting to gain items she did not believe she had.

Officer responded to a report of a 9 year old that had run away from his parents on a bicycle.

Cab broke down in the middle of Sebago Lake Road. Officer drove the passenger home and another cab gave the first cab a jump-start.

Subject walking on Ossipee Trail was upset over an argument with friends and family. Was trying to get to the Shelter in Portland. She was walking from Standish. Transported to Oxford Street Shelter.

McQuillian's Hill Drive caller reported he believed his patient was currently driving by his residence and looking in the windows.

Officer responded to a verbal argument over watching Hulu on Nintendo.
