Town Council Addresses Racism

Responding to concerns and calls for action from Gorham residents, including students, the Town Council (TC) addressed "a resolution to assist with ending systemic racism" sponsored by Councilor Virginia Wilder Cross at its August 4 regular meeting. The proposal asked the TC to resolve to "end oppression/misrepresentation of minority groups, and to continue to assure that law enforcement honors equal justice for all in Gorham."

Acknowledging that "minority groups in Gorham often experience discrimination in various forms" in this "predominately white community with a growing population representing diversity of color, culture, language, sexual preference," the resolution committed the town to "educating residents about ending discrimination" and to maintaining "a close and respectable relationship with our local law enforcement."

In recognizing the efforts of Gorham citizens to peacefully support the Black Lives Matter movement through marches and vigils, the resolution "affirms and acknowledges that Black Lives Matter" and commends the Gorham Police Department for ensuring "the safety of local protests." It listed a number of ways the police department can provide a welcoming atmosphere for people of color, called for more public information on departmental policies, and committed to providing resources for anti-bias and de-escalation training.

The resolution "condemns any

School Department Plans for Fall Opening

KATHY CORBETT Staff Writer

At three Zoom forums for parents of Gorham students, Superintendent Heather Perry outlined plans under development for opening schools at the end of August. Although the Maine CDC metric and the Maine Department of Education (MDOE) has designated all of Maine a Green zone that permits schools to fully open, "the Green designation for our county isn't really Green," Perry said, adding, "Schools can open in Green only if they can meet all MDOE guidelines with all students on campus."

"Schools can open in Green only if they can meet all MDOE guidelines with all students on campus." The decision on how to open Gorham schools will be made by the School Committee (SC) at a special meeting on August 6. Gorham school administrators have scheduled another series of forums for August 10, 11, and 12 to give additional details of the approved plan and to answer questions.

During the July forums, Perry explained guidelines from the Maine CDC and the MDOE requirements, as well as the guiding principles the district will follow in implementing the Gorham plan. Recordings of the forums for high school students and those in K-5 are available on the Gorham School Department website.

The three different plans the district developed are virtual learning from home, a hybrid plan, and a regular school day with hygiene requirements. In order to have students and staff in school buildings, a district must enforce the following restrictions: there must be symptom screening at home before coming to school; everyone must stay six feet from each other although students can be only three feet apart when eating; everyone over the age of five must wear a face covering; hand hygiene rules must be enforced; additional safety protection must be available when needed; and there needs to be a process for people returning to school after being sick. There are also requirements for how many people can be together in a space at one time.

These restrictions would apply in the hybrid plan but only half the students will be in school at one time. Half of the students will be in school on Mondays and Wednesdays, and the other half will attend on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Fridays will be designated as flexible days for individual on-line student assistance and planning. Parents can elect to have their children receive only vir-

Gorham Promotes Business Support

SHERI FABER Staff Writer

Kevin Jensen, Gorham's Economic Development Director, is committed to attracting new retail business and letting businesses know that the Town will support them in partnership with the Gorham Business Exchange and the Gorham Village Association which are "dedicated to people having great shopping experiences in the village and the joy of supporting small businesses."

Jensen noted the Town's Department of Community Development has been taking steps to promote a "business friendly" environment through open and improved communication and outreach. In addition, the Town's revolving loan fund program for small businesses, which provides loans up to $150,000 per business at competitive rates, is particularly concerned about providing funding assistance to the business community during the pandemic.

Jensen cited a number of new and expanded businesses in the Village area as evidence of businesses finding the right location to fit their needs and be successful. Upcycle Maine Home Furnishings moved from its original space in the Village Mall to a new location on South St. next to Amato's. K.h. designs, previously an online business offering custom handmade and refinished furniture, recently moved to the space formerly rented by Upcycle Maine Home Furnishing. Both of the specialty alcoholic beverage stores, Hops and Vines and Bier Cellar, are doing well as craft beers are quite popular in Maine.

Creating Momentum

REP. MO TERRY

I have lived in Gorham for 20 years and feel honored to be a part of this engaged and supportive community. In recent months we have seen a surge in the national conversation around systemic racism and police brutality. Mainers across the state have joined the discussion with enthusiasm and compassion. Here in Gorham, I have been struck by the community's willingness to be introspective and to look deeply at the systems on the local level that perpetuate inequality and injustice. As a mother, I take great pride in seeing students and young folks organize, facilitate dialogue and advocate for a better tomorrow.

One of the projects I've been working on, with a handful of my colleagues, is identifying bills that promote racial equity and those that are geared toward breaking down inequities based on race. This has been a very fast-paced endeavor undertaken to support the Permanent Commission on the Status of Racial, Indigenous and Maine Tribal Populations. The purpose of this effort is to highlight bills that will improve racial equity in Maine. Some of this work helps inform our votes on bills we haven't yet finished this session, but it also establishes a system for evaluating bills based on their racial impact that may be utilized by future Legislatures.

With this work happening in Augusta, there has also been important activism occurring on the local level. One effort I have been particularly impressed with is the Gorham Black Lives Matter (BLM) initiative, which has organized several peaceful protests around town. These protests have been predominantly led by high school students, initially in response to the death of George Floyd in Minneapolis, Minnesota. While the showing of support throughout town has been inspiring, I recognize continued protests can pose challenges for any community. However, I wholeheartedly believe that the momentum being created by the peaceful protests is essential for establishing lasting change. The protests serve as a constant reminder that our work is just getting started. They encourage us to keep the conversation alive and motivate us all to follow the lead of our children by being active participants in dismantling systems of oppression that exist all around us.

While I see the value in these protests, I know that change happens at multiple levels and that a problem this big and this deeply rooted needs to be tackled from all angles. I believe successful civic engagement can take many forms and I commend the Gorham BLM group for utilizing its right to peacefully protest while also working with law enforcement and local officials to engage in a meaningful dialogue.

As a result of these conversations, a Resolution has been drafted and is expected to be taken up by the Town Council on August 4. Should the Resolution be adopted, it will express the town's commitment to ending systemic racism, the oppression/misrepresentation of minority groups, and continuing to assure that law enforcement honors equal justice for all in Gorham.

This is an important step in acknowledging our role in promoting equality and justice for each of our citizens.

As your representative, I will continue to listen to the many different voices at the table in this discussion. I think now more than ever it is essential that we support, not alienate, each other as we all strive to recognize where we have fallen short and commit to doing better. That includes in our criminal justice system, our schools, our economy, and our health care system.

We have a long way to go, but I believe real progress can be made when we work together. I look forward to doing the hard work and having the difficult conversations so that our community can continue to be the welcoming and supportive place I know it to be. Please don't hesitate to reach out to me if you have any questions or concerns.

Pride Preserve Is Forever Protected for Generations

A family-friendly 1/4 mile loop trail with great wildlife watching opportunities encircles one of two ponds in Pride Preserve.

> CHRIS CRAWFORD Staff Writer

After a successful public campaign during the pandemic, the Presumpscot Regional Land Trust has conserved Pride Preserve for generations to come. Two adjacent parcels, totaling 188 acres in the Pride's Corner area of Westbrook, make it the largest conserved forest land in the greater Portland area. An added benefit is that it directly connects to 60 acres of conserved land in Falmouth.

Plans for the parcel, which will officially open in the fall, include a trailhead off Duck Pond Road leading to a family friendly, 1/4 mile trail around one of two ponds on the Preserve. There are plans for a pollinator garden and bat houses in this area. Pride Preserve will also offer miles of trails for walking, mountain biking, snowshoeing and skiing, in addition to a multi-use snowmobile trail. The parcel includes Minnow Brook, a tributary of the Presumpscot River, and several other unnamed streams.

In addition to abundant wildlife, Pride Preserve is historically and geologically significant. It was part of the traditional lands of the Wabanaki People for over 10,000 years. When the Pride family settled in Westbrook nearly 300 years ago, they lent their name to the area known as Pride's Corner. The Preserve includes 15 historic gravestones of the Knight Family dating back to 1825. Interestingly, according to the Land Trust website, so much sand has been naturally deposited by streams flowing into Sand Pit Pond that some of the sand was removed and used for the construction of Interstate 95. There are also unusual granite outcroppings left by glaciers. A virtual tour of the Pride Preserve is available at https://www.prlt.org.

Who Are the Friends of Baxter Memorial Library?

DIANE CASWELL AND SUSAN SEDENKA Friends of Baxter Memorial Library Board of Directors

These are the two most frequently asked questions that we get whenever we mention the Friends of BML. We never tire of answering because there is so much good news to share.

The Friends is an all-volunteer nonprofit organization established more than twenty years ago to provide time and financial help to the library. Its stated purpose is "to promote the services of the Baxter Memorial Library and to support the Library through fundraising and special events."

In the past two years, The Friends have purchased digital picture frames, a Blu-ray/DVD resurfacing machine, sewing machines (for Youth Services), and bookshelves to help with the ongoing reorganization of the library's collections. In addition, we were one of the sponsors for the First Annual Print Run that celebrated the summer reading programs; and, we helped fund a Teen Youth Services Summer Intern. We also help with the annual Harry Potter event by providing volunteers and funds for supplies and refreshments.

The Friends group has also sponsored many authors and other speakers over the years including Julia Spencer-Fleming, Bruce Robert Coffin, Monica Wood, Steven Rowley, Dave Patterson, and Karen Richards Toothaker who delighted the children by teaching them how to make no-sew rag dolls. Our guest speakers have covered topics as diverse as CBD for athletes, making smoothies, and genealogy.

You might have heard about our Spring Into Summer event which is a thank you to the community for helping our library continue to flourish. It also serves as the kick-off for the Summer Reading Programs. Children have the opportunity to touch a truck or police cruiser; enjoy a hot dog, popcorn, or snow cone; and delight in entertainment that matches the theme of the day. What really makes this event special is the additional help provided by town officials. (Unfortunately due to the pandemic, the event was not held this year.)

The Friends do all of this and more with the funds provided by membership dues and our two annual book sales. We have a very strong core group of members, but could use more.

Perhaps you'd like to help us staff an author event or give an hour of your time to a Book Sale? Maybe you'd prefer to support your library financially with an annual membership fee to the Friends?

If you want more information about the Friends of Baxter Memorial Library, please contact library director James Rathbun or check us out on the Baxter Memorial Library website. We hope you will consider joining us in supporting our public library.

Show Us Your Garden!

The pandemic has sent most of us into stay at home mode with schedules and expectations thrown into disarray as we each find a new normal. Even the weather here in Gorham has been unusual with a frost on June first and a true heatwave, the first in nine years, this July.

But an unexpected outcome from this paradigm shift is a huge increase in home gardening. Everything from flower pots on the front stoop, to vegetable plots in the side yard, to full fledge food forests right in the front yard. Look around, people are gardening like never before.

Gorham residents have replaced so many patches of lawn with inventive structures, unique garden layouts, and beautiful flower varieties. So show us your garden!

The Gorham Times would like to display your gardening talents, big and small, in one of our future issues. We invite you to submit your favorite photo to gorhamtimes@gmail.com for the chance to win a gift card to one of our local advertisers.

Pride Preserve Is Forever Protected for Generations

The Pride Preserve became a reality thanks to the generosity and foresight of Florence Pride Hawkes and her family who want the land to remain undeveloped and enjoyed by generations to come. Her son Dennis said, "My mom's wish for the future is that those who embark on a journey in Pride Preserve may observe the trees, flowers, and animal signs and listen to the sounds of nature as she has enjoyed doing over the last century."

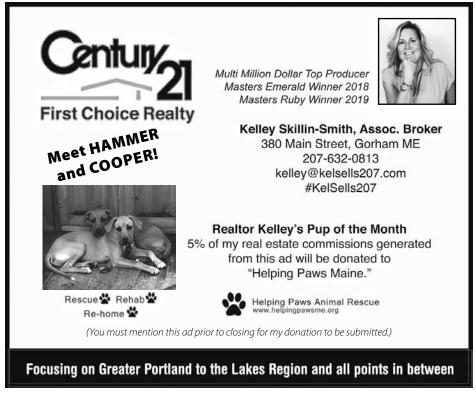

Other supportive community groups are the Cornelia Warren Community Association, City of Westbrook Recreation and Conservation Commission, in addition to the 111 individuals living throughout the region who gave generously to make this half million-dollar conservation and trails project possible. Rachelle Curran Apse, Executive Director of the Land Trust said, "Conserving new land and creating new forested walking trails is only possible due to the hundreds of families who are members, and to the dozens of businesses who are supporters of the Land Trust in Gorham and throughout the region."

This summer Land Trust staff, interns and volunteers will be building the trailhead and trails, and beginning wildlife enhancement projects at Pride Preserve. If you would like to help volunteer please visit the "get involved" page at www.prlt.org. The trails will be complete and open to the public this fall.

The Presumpscot Regional Land Trust is a community-based nonprofit primarily serving Gorham, Gray, Standish, Westbrook, and Windham. It holds 1,840 acres of conserved lands with 14 free public access preserves that include trails and water access. The Land Trust is the water steward of the Presumpscot River watershed and coordinates the Sebago to the Sea Trail, a 28-mile trail from Standish to Portland.

CAR CARE

The Facts About Your Anti-Lock Brake System (ABS)

Doug Carter

There is a common misconception that Anti-Lock Brakes help you stop faster. That is not always the case on loose gravel or snowy surfaces. Anti-Lock Brakes, in fact, are designed to help you maintain control of your vehicle in an emergency braking situation.

Imagine you are driving on a snowy road. You need to slam on your brakes and your rear wheels lock up. Chances are good that the rear end of your vehicle will try to pass the front end and you can easily lose control. What would happen in the same circumstance if your front wheels locked up? Well you certainly would not be able to steer properly, and your front end would go to wherever gravity leads it.

The Anti-Lock Brake System (ABS) modulates your brakes on and off as many as 15 times a second. This keeps your wheels from locking up while providing the greatest amount of braking possible. You are better able to steer your vehicle and maintain control. It's very important to remember the three S's of Anti-Lock Brakes: Stomp - Stay -Steer. Stomp on the brake, Stay on the brake, and Steer normally.

Modern ABSs utilize a computer to receive information from sensors and control the anti-lock brakes. There are wheel speed sensors at each wheel reporting back to the computer which can then decide when to activate the anti-lock brakes on the wheel or wheels

So, what affects how well the ABS works? The brakes need to be in good shape. If your brakes are worn or not working properly, the ABS will not be able to do its job as effectively. A brake inspection will let you know if your brake shoes/ pads are in good condition, if there are any mechanical brake problems and if your brake fluid and power brake system need service. Proper brake fluid maintenance helps keep the brake control module in good working order.

There can also be problems with the various sensors and wiring that send the messages to and from the computer. And of course, tires need to be in good condition to have enough traction to start, stop, and steer. Worn tires are a big problem for ABS and Stability Control Systems.

The ABS is the foundation of the Stability Control Systems, providing the information needed for stability control as well as to strategically brake when needed. The stability control system can activate the ABS without any driver inputs and it can also take control of the throttle. The Stability system uses a vaw rate sensor that can detect the sideways movement of the vehicle, if the steering wheel isn't turning, the control unit senses that the vehicle is slipping.

When you start your vehicle, the ABS and traction lights will briefly illuminate on the dashboard. If the system detects a problem, the light will stay on. That is your cue to take your vehicle in for an inspection to determine the problem.

This rigorous annual competition awards cash prizes of $1,000 in seven categories for vocalists and instrumentalists. Due to current safety guidelines, this year's auditions were evaluated by video submission only. Bay Chamber released the video recordings, featuring each winning performance, on its YouTube Channel. Anya Mazaris-Atkinson, an incoming junior at Gorham High School (GHS) was the winner of the Elsie Bixler Junior Prize. This is her eighth year playing flute and she holds a passion for all types of music. She has placed in top chairs in several ensembles including: the MMEA District 1 Concert Band in both 2019 and 2020; John Philip Sousa National Honors Band - New England 2019; Portland Youth Wind Ensemble; and the Portland Youth Symphony Orchestra. Mazaris-Atkinson also placed as principal flutist in the Southern Maine Music Academy Concert Band in the summer of 2019, and more recently in the MMEA Allstate Orchestra 2020. This year, she was a finalist in the Bangor Symphony Orchestra tual instruction, but that decision would hold for the entire semester.

Once a re-opening plan is approved, parents will receive detailed explanations of all aspects of it, including transportation plans, and will have about a week to make decisions about their children's attendance.

Before coming to school, students who travel out-of-state to an unapproved state must quarantine for 14 days or provide a negative COVID-19 test. If only the adults in the household have been to an unapproved state, the student may attend school.

The district staff will be available to answer any questions about the plan at the upcoming forums and or by contacting school principals and other administrators directly.

The Gorham Times will continue to follow the changes and will cover the reopening plan in more detail in the August 20 issue.

Indoor Air Quality & Ventilation at Gorham Schools

NORM JUSTICE Facilities Director

Naturally parents, staff, and students have questions about our physical plant systems and operations and in particular questions about COVID and the importance of fresh air ventilation systems.

Creating and maintaining healthy indoor air quality in our schools is not something new. Our HVAC (Heating, Ventilating, and Air Conditioning) systems are designed to meet the highest ASHRAE (American Society of Heating, Refrigerating and Air-Conditioning Engineers) standards. These standards recognize the importance of fresh air ventilation in our schools. All our schools have MUA (Make-Up Air) Systems that constantly bring fresh outside air into classrooms, offices, cafeterias, gyms and any occupied space during occupied periods.

Our systems are maintained and monitored constantly. We have a sophisticated Energy Management System that allows us to monitor and control our HVAC systems 24/7. This system not only allows us to monitor space temperatures, but the amount of fresh air being introduced to spaces. We receive an alarm when key systems fail and respond immediately.

Lastly, our HVAC systems are serviced twice annually: once prior to school opening and mid-winter to be sure the systems are operating properly. We follow the EPA Guidelines and Best Practices for Indoor Air Quality within Schools and are a member and participate in the Maine Indoor Air Quality Council programs.

Drew's essay won first-place for depicting how the decisions drivers make can impact their life as well as their family and friends. She was honored among the Top 20 winners statewide during a zoom ceremony on June 25, which replaced the traditional awards ceremony at the Law Office due to coronavirus.

Six other Gorham graduates finished in the Top 20: Haley Burns, Harlan Ivan, Sam Orlando, Devon Paulin, Will Donnelly, and Lauren Preis.

In addition to celebrating the contest's winners, the law firm donated $50 per honorable mention winner to a library or food bank in each graduate's hometown. A total of $5,050 was donated to 20 nonprofit organizations throughout Maine.

The contest is open to graduating high school seniors in Maine who may enter a creative project of their choice. First-place winners receive a new laptop, second and third-place winners receive a new iPad, and every student who enters receives prizes from the law firm.

Since 2005, over 1,000 graduating seniors have entered the contest from 125 Maine high schools. In the past 16 years, the Law Offices of Joe Bornstein has given away over $150,000 in prizes to help educate teenagers on the risks of dangerous driving. The firm's dedication to the Arrive Alive Creative Contest made them a finalist for the American Association for Justice Trial Lawyers Care Award in 2014.

SPORTS

What Kids Are Doing Without Organized Sports

DESTINY COOK Sports Editor

As we enter August, it is still unknown what sports will look like for the fall; be it recreation or school sports. These activities are usually outlets for kids to develop skills and build friendships, and sadly, they are missing the opportunity to get out and participate with their friends and teammates.

Thomas, Timmy and Tucker Curtis are the children of Mark and Becky Curtis, and all three participate in some type of sport. Thomas is an incoming freshman at GHS, Timmy is going into eighth grade, and Tucker is heading into fifth Thomas missed his eighth grade baseball season due to Covid-19. "I was really disappointed, but I have been training hard for all of my sports (football, baseball, and basketball)," he said. Looking ahead to fall, he is hoping for some kind of football season as it will be his freshman year and it's his favorite sport. Mostly he misses being around his friends and just wants to be out competing again.

Other than training and pick-up games with small groups of friends, Thomas started a journalism/playby-play podcast with a few buddies called "The Pre-Game Pod" on YouTube.

"I watch all Pro-Sports. NFL, NBA, and MLB mostly. I am very excited for the NBA to start back up," he shared. Outside activities for Thomas include fishing, skateboarding, basketball, and playing catch or tossing a football around. "COVID-19 has affected me in many ways but I try to keep a positive attitude and keep moving forward," he added.

While his brother Timmy plays football for the Gorham Grizzlies, he also wrestles and has taken an interest in Ultimate Frisbee. He missed out on his second season of Ultimate due to the cancellation of spring sports. According to his mom he was looking forward to learning more about it and developing his skills. Timmy's favorite outdoor activities during the summer are biking Gorham's extensive trail network and riding his dirt bike. He also enjoys spending time at Sebago Lake, Ocean Park Beach, and recently went whitewater rafting on the Kennebec River in The Forks.

Sports aren't the only thing keeping Timmy occupied during the pandemic.

He has also been volunteering at the GMS garden and became a bit of a local celebrity after being interviewed by Newscenter for his involvement printing 3D ear protectors for front-line work-

Tucker is a baseball and soccer player. He was very disappointed to miss out on his spring baseball season, but even the young can put a positive spin on the situation: his team "Knowles" had an undefeated 2019 season and with the cancellation, he joked that he also has a 2020 undefeated season as well.

Becky said, "As crazy as sports schedules make our lives I think it is safe to say we all miss the teammates, friendships, exercise, and competition that go along with each season."

The Sallinen boys, sons of Tom and Stacy Sallinen, are equally involved in sports. Tommy, the oldest, finished his sophomore year during quarantine. He plays football and participates in indoor and outdoor track at GHS. His indoor track season was cut short, spring season was cancelled, and his football season is currently delayed.

While Tommy is missing out on conditioning and weight training > this summer through the GHS football program, he has taken the initiative to do some things on his own including running as well as recently joining My-Fit-24 so he can work out with friends.

Like his older brother, Matt, who is going into eighth grade, plays football through the Gorham Youth Football program and runs indoor and outdoor track. He also plays baseball through Gorham Little League and loves to ski.

While the high school football season is still up in the air, unfortunately for Matt, the Gorham Youth Football season has been cancelled. Until this point, his mom shared he was hopeful the season would happen. "I'm disappointed again," he said after learning the news, but said he'll continue to run outside and ride his bike.

The youngest Sallinen, Nick, is heading to sixth grade and plays soccer for GYSA, basketball, and baseball. Nick was unable to finish his last year of Majors before aging out, his indoor soccer season at the Gorham Sports Complex was also cut short, and there is no word on whether he will be able to play GYSA, but he remains optimistic.

"Quarantine presented many disappointments for my family," Stacy said. From Nick missing his last year of Majors to Matt missing out on an opportunity to umpire for Little League.

"A huge part of sports and activities is the socialization for both kids and parents. We have all missed this by not sitting on the sidelines," Stacy said.

Despite all the cancellations and the unknowns they still face, Stacy said there are some silver linings that have followed Covid-19. "We spend time at the lake during the summer. The boys have had lots of time to fish, swim, perfect their cannonball, play whiffle ball and dibble, and just be boys," she said.

Something to take away from both families, and many others in Gorham who have learned to navigate their time without organized sports...while there have been many disappointments due to the pandemic, these young men have adapted. So while the fall season remains up in the air, kids are resilient and will continue to find ways to fill their days with activity.

Hope for Fall Sports

COMPILED BY DESTINY COOK

On July 31, the Maine Department of Education designated all counties in Maine as "green" meaning the risk of COVID-19 is low. The return to sports will likely now be decided by superintendents in each district.

According to the Maine Principals Association, as it stands now, the fall sports season will be modified. The start of fall practices has been pushed from August 17 to September 8, and will last only two weeks instead of three. Countable games will begin no sooner than September 18, and the plan is to have modified playoffs as "To get back to school (is) the number one priority," said Gorham AD Tim Spear to the Portland Press Herald. "This gives us a date to start looking at schedules, to have a real good plan at each school on how you're monitoring kids and how you're going to do your screening. And it gives us time to educate our coaches."

Sports Etc.

The Gorham Football Boosters board of directors voted to not proceed with a formal playing season involving games and practices for the 2020 youth tackle football season.

PRETTY PLEASE?

Caller wanted permission to drive on a suspended license. He was advised not to drive.

Plowman Road caller reported receiving calls claiming to be from the IRS. No information was provided to caller. Officer advised caller to ignore any future calls.

Vehicle was reported parked at the end of Cotton Drive for a couple of days. Officer contacted the vehicle operator and he said he would go down the road to talk on the phone so he wasn't on a Main Road. Officer told caller what he had found out.

Officer observed damage to a driver's vehicle but after checking footage, it was determined that the vehicle was not struck at that location.

Barstow Road caller reported a drone flying near her house. Caller was concerned and found this unusual. Officer checked area and did not observe a drone.

Officer checked on a disabled vehicle on State St. with hazard lights on. Vehicle had run out of gas. Driver provided his license which was suspended. He told officer he thought he had paid the reinstatement fee to BMV. He called his bank and they had no record of a check to BMV. He was issued a summons for operating after suspension.

Main St. caller reported that a girl he had met online was not answering his calls anymore and he was concerned about her.

Officer stood by while employee was let go from an Ossipee Trail business. Woman was upset but after several minutes, she collected herself and left.

Terry St. caller received a call, ostensibly from a police organization asking for money. She agreed to donate if they sent her a pamphlet. They transferred her to another person who asked for credit card information. When she asked a lot of questions, they hung up on her. Officer called the number and it was a generic fundraising service and they hung up on the officer. Subsequent calls to this number received a message that the number was out of service.

Caller was concerned that her son didn't return home after work. He was located at a friend's house.

Brookwood Drive caller reported fuel was taken from their tanks and that their vehicles have been gone through. Caller was advised to lock vehicle and officer would request more patrols in the area at night.

Woman came into Police Department to report erratic operation on Rt. 202 the previous day. She was advised to call when it was happening as it would be difficult to determine who was driving at the time of the incident.

Horses were running loose on Gray Road and Little River Drive. Owner was able to collect them.

Mitchell Hill Road caller reported what appeared to be vehicle headlights in the woods behind her house. They were exterior lights on a nearby building.
