Town Council Passes Two Anti-Racism Resolutions

KATHY CORBETT
Staff Writer

The Gorham Town Council (TC) passed two anti-racism resolutions at its September 1 regular meeting on Zoom. One, sponsored by Councilor Virginia Wilder Cross, recognized the Black Lives Matter (BLM) movement and pledged support for ending “systemic racism” and for ensuring “that law enforcement honors equal justice for all in Gorham.”

The original resolution, which was drafted by students and residents with input from Town Manager Ephrem Paraschak and Police Chief Christopher Sanborn, was presented during an August meeting but was tabled due to concerns surrounding the language and an affiliation with the Black Lives Matter organization.

The other resolution, based on one adopted by Cape Elizabeth, was sponsored by Councilor Ben Hartwell and welcomed “all people into our community.” It “commits to substantive action to combat racism, bias, discrimination, violence and hate.”

Before the first vote, Wilder Cross spoke in support of the revised version of the original resolution. She said that the group, primarily young people of color, had addressed every section of the resolution that

In spite of Covid-19 and the Labor Day weekend, three local firefighters dressed in full gear to run the Stephen Ward Memorial 5K (which is virtual this year) on September 6. With family, friends, and community members cheering them on, they continued the tradition of running in honor of the firefighters and first responders who lost their lives on September 11, 2001. Members of the crowd supported the firefighters by joining them for portions of the course or stopping to give them water, apples and applause. ## Gorham Welcomes New Assistant Principals

ANDREA MORRELL
School News Editor

The Gorham School Department has seen a lot of new changes since the coronavirus shut down schools on March 16. Schools have now reopened but they look very different with protocols in place to keep everyone safe.

Among the many changes this year, Gorham has welcomed two new assistant principals: Erin Eppler at Narragansett Elementary and Deanna Etienne at Great Falls Elementary.

Eppler is entering her fourth year with the Gorham School Department. She began her work with Gorham families as a second-grade teacher, followed by two years as a fifth-grade teacher at Village Elementary.

Before coming to Gorham, she spent her career in Lake Havasu City, AZ. As a National Board-Certified teacher, she has taught grades second through sixth, and as an academic coach, she's supported teachers in K-6 schools. In addition to her educational background, she spent two years working for a test development company developing certification and licensure exams.

Eppler is an avid reader and loves crime novels. She also enjoys movies but says not to ask her for a recommendation as she has very low entertainment standards and enjoys almost anything.

Her husband Kevin is a physical education teacher and coach who works in a neighboring district. Their daughter Maiya is a graduate of Gorham High School and is now a sophomore attending the University of South Florida.

“I'm looking forward to being part of a team that supports students and families as we return to school in a variety of formats,” said Eppler, adding, “COVID-19 has thrown a wrench into best-laid plans, but I'm excited to work with talented and dedicated professionals to provide a positive experience for all students.”

Narragansett principal Cynthia Remick said that with Gorham's growing school committee, she knew that they needed to hire an administrator with a deep knowledge of K-5 education, strong communication and interpersonal skills, and proven experience in educational leadership.

“Mrs. Eppler is an experienced elementary educator who has been an active participant on building leadership teams and district-level committees,” said Remick.

“In addition, she has proven experience as a K-5 instructional coach and educational consultant in the area of assessment. We could not be more thrilled to have Mrs. Eppler join the administrative team at Narragansett. During the first few weeks on board, she has already demonstrated that she has embraced the mission of Narragansett School: Growing Hearts & Growing Minds,” Remick said.

Etienne is excited to be working for the Gorham School Department. This is her first year with the district, having spent most of her career teaching in the Lewiston-Auburn area.

Previously, she was a classroom teacher in both Kindergarten and Pre-K and was most recently the Dean of Students at Connors Elementary School in Lewiston.

“I am so excited to get to know the students and families at Great Falls and to be a familiar face in the Gorham community,” said Etienne.

Outside of school, she spends as much time as possible with her husband and their four-year-old son. As a family, they love to visit the beach all year round, go for bike and scooter rides, and watch America's Funniest Home Videos with stovetop popcorn (her son's favorite) for a good laugh.

In addition to getting to know each student at Great Falls, Etienne is excited to support students and

Suicide Prevention During a Pandemic

REP. MO TERRY

Every year we recognize September as suicide prevention month in an effort to promote awareness, contribute to the dialogue and provide needed resources. This year, the COVID-19 pandemic has exacerbated existing hardships for people of all walks of life, including those suffering from mental illness. Maine CDC Director Dr. Nirav Shah reminds us each week not only to remain diligent in our physical health safety practices, but also in taking care of our mental health as we navigate the ongoing challenges posed by the pandemic.

We have been living with the pandemic for over six months now and feelings of isolation, depression, anxiety and other emotional and financial stresses are nearly impossible to avoid. These factors are also all known contributors to one's risk for suicide. In a report released by the Maine Attorney General's office and the Maine Medical Examiner's office, drug overdose deaths have dramatically increased in 2020. The report found that 127 deaths were caused by drugs in the first quarter of 2020, demonstrating a 23% increase from the final quarter of 2019.

Even before the pandemic suicide was a growing public health problem. In 2018 alone suicide was responsible for over 48,000 deaths in the United States. It is the tenth leading cause of death in our country. These statistics are grim, but suicide prevention month is about taking action to better support our loved ones and reducing the stigma so that we all feel comfortable asking for help.

The National Suicide Prevention Lifeline has outlined several steps we can take to be better supports and advocates. Namely they have launched a campaign that encourages folks to #BeThe1To ask, be there, keep them safe, help them stay connected, follow-up and learn more. So much more must be done remotely these days, but even through virtual connection we can make a difference. I urge you all to check in on a friend, neighbor or loved one. Ask them how they're doing and if they've had any suicidal thoughts. Combat the loneliness and isolation we are all feeling by picking up the phone or going for a physically distant walk. Sometimes being a non judgmental presence is the most helpful thing we can do.

We can also help by ensuring folks have access to available suicide prevention resources like the Lifeline number 800-273-8255 or the online Lifeline Crisis Chat or by connecting them with resources in their community including friends, faith communities or other public service providers. Following up with individuals after treatment and establishing ongoing connection has additionally been shown to be an effective suicide prevention strategy.

With these steps in mind, it is also crucial to remember that we are all going through a lot these days. While we have re-framed our approach to distancing during the pandemic to physical distancing and not social distancing, it's still easy to feel disconnected. We now must be much more intentional about the time we spend together.

In the wise words of our beloved Maine CDC director, Dr. Nirav Shah, "Although social distancing is the recommendation of the Maine CDC, we have to be cautious in order to prevent an epidemic of COVID-19 from becoming an epidemic of loneliness. So while I recommend that everyone socially distance, I also recommend that everyone socially connect in different ways, whether that be through Facetime and other conferencing apps, whether that be calling an old friend you haven't talked to in a long time, or sitting on your porch and waving at your neighbors. Everyone should still remain socially connected. Even as we introduce a little bit of physical space, that does not mean we need to introduce absolute space."

Dear Editor,

I am writing in support of Stacy Brenner to succeed Linda Sanborn in the Maine Senate District 30. I recently visited Stacy and her husband John at their farm in Scarborough and was impressed with their commitment to advancing sound agricultural practices. Given all the dire news about climate change and the current drought and unusually hot summer, I was pleased to witness farming practices adapted to these threats.

I was impressed with Stacy's enthusiasm for reducing carbon dioxide levels through environmentally friendly farming, a commitment for building good soil, and passion for producing safe and nutritious food. Her awareness of the impact of climate change and the opportunity to bring alternative energy jobs to Maine was heartening. She also has become a leader in the Maine Organic Farmers and Gardeners Association.

As a state senator, Stacy's experience, unwavering commitment to protect the environment, and recognition of the value of green energy jobs will serve us well in the senate. She will be a strong voice for the protection of Maine's environment.

Please join me in supporting Stacy Brenner for Maine Senate District 30.
Bruce Webb

Dear Editor,

Many of the loyal readers of the Gorham Times have recently driven by the site of the former Gorham Raceway, which closed in 1967. No doubt they have noticed a brand new 79,000 square foot building that began construction last year and was finished a couple months ago. That is the new home of Harvey Performance Company and almost 90 well-paying jobs for highly-skilled workers.

As the developer on this project, I am pleased to report that although they were exacting and rigorous in their review of what we proposed, Gorham town officials have been ultimately professional all along the way, and very clear about expectations and standards. Having been involved in many development projects through the years, I think your readers should be made aware of how well they have been served by elected officials and town staff. This project was a pleasure to complete, and in my opinion was a true model of what competent, professional collaboration is all about.

Manufacturing is alive and well in Maine, and that is certainly so in Gorham. My compliments to everyone involved.

Josh Benthien

Dear Editor,

I am writing this letter on behalf of Stacy Brenner, the Democratic candidate for the State Senate in district 30. The district encompasses Scarborough, Gorham and Buxton. Stacy has a long history of excellent community service both as a private business owner and in the medical field. Her two degrees in nursing attest to her broad knowledge health care issues, something that is vital to all of us. Stacy has a strong sense of compassion and integrity. I strongly urge you to vote for Stacy on election day.

Gorham Discontinues Use of Town Trash Bags

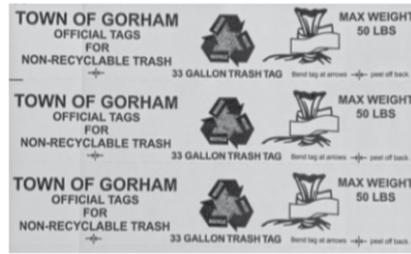

COURTESY OF BOB BURNS
Public Works Director

The Town of Gorham will discontinue distribution of town trash BAGS, replacing them with town trash TAGS, effective January 1, 2021. The tags have been in circulation since May 2016 and are seen as a more effective way to reduce trash volume. Town trash bags currently in use, will be honored until the supply is exhausted.

Public Works has received many complaints about the quality of the Town bags that have been used over the last 18 years since the inception of the program. Going forward, it will be much more efficient for Public Works to procure and distribute tags as well as freeing up valuable shelf space for store merchants.

The trash tags are available in local stores as well as municipal facilities wherever bags are sold. Residents will purchase their own trash bags and attach a Town tag to each bag when placed at the curb for collection. After January 1, 2021, trash will continue to be picked up in a Town trash bag if residents have them, but they will no longer be distributed to the stores.

The tags signifies to the Town's curbside collection contractor, Pine Tree Waste (Casella), that the resident has paid for the collection of each tagged trash bag. This revenue from the sale of the tags is used by the Town to pay for the trash and recyclable curbside collection contract.

The Town Council voted that as of October 1, 2020, small trash bags (15 gallons) will be sold at 10 for $21.50 and large trash bags (33 gallons) will be sold at 5 for $21.50. While residents can use Town trash bags until they run out, the Town will not be selling the bags after January 1, 2021.

Residents will be able to buy Town tags, to use on their own trash bags, at a price of 5 for $7.50 for small trash bags, 15 gallons and smaller, and 5 for $15.00 for large trash bags, 33 gallons and smaller.

For more information, please call Gorham's solid waste hotline at 892-3649.

Save the Date – New Year Gorham is ON!

VIRGINIA WILDER CROSS
Contributing Writer

Finally, here's some good news to share...the New Year Gorham Planning Committee is pleased to announce that New Year Gorham is on. It will be different, but it will be an exciting way to usher out this difficult year. The most notable differences are where the event will be held and its shorter length of time.

"This year we will be celebrating outdoors at the Narragansett School, and we will follow the CDC guidelines in place at the time," said Tom Hasbrouck, New Year Gorham Coordinator. "It's too early to reveal all the plans, but those that are confirmed promise a fabulously fun afternoon on New Year's Eve. What we can share is the fact that we will pack a whole lot of activity and entertainment into about three hours beginning no earlier than 2 p.m. and ending with fireworks at 5 p.m."

The preliminary plans include ice skating to live music, a variety of entertainment performed on innovative box truck performance stages, activities and food to keep folks warm, and extra special fireworks to welcome in a much needed happier new year.

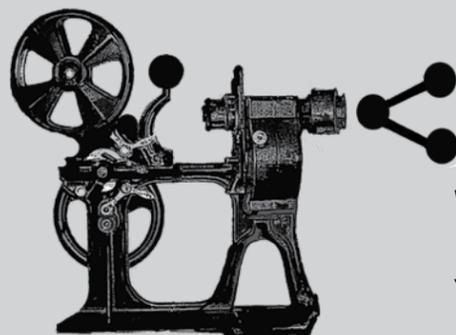

The planning committee will keep everyone informed as plans are finalized, but what's important now is for the Gorham community to save the date, December 31, 2020.

Gaining Empowerment

DR. JOE KERWIN

How much control do you feel you have over your life in general, and your health in particular? The current pandemic has left many of us feeling out of control – causing feelings of disbelief, fear, anger and a lot of uncertainty. We have all become victims of the pandemic as we scramble to do the things we hope will restore some semblance of control over the outcome: social distancing, wearing face masks, and emphasizing increased hygiene to try to flatten the curve.

These are all important actions to take, and we must all do our part to follow them. But unfortunately, these defensive reactions can also create more fear, more uncertainty, and a greater sense of victimhood in our current lives. So what else, as individuals, can we do to feel empowered?

This is a time to reflect upon the state of your health. As the pandemic unfolds, it has become clear that our health status can make us more more susceptible to the effects of not just COVID-19, but any virus. The pandemic has reminded us of one simple truth: the metabolic health of an individual has a significant impact on how they respond to infection. Metabolic health is achieved when a person has ideal levels of blood sugar, triglycerides, HDL cholesterol, blood pressure, and waist circumference without the use of medications. It is estimated that only 12% of Americans are metabolically healthy.

This is a time to reflect upon whether you are giving your body the best possible chance at fighting infection and staying healthy. Are you one of the 12%? Or are you one of the 70% of Americans who are obese or overweight? Is your blood sugar well controlled without medication? What about aging? It is not your biological age that matters, but your immune and metabolic age.

As we move through these uncertain times, the science of epigenetics can be a beacon of hope for our future. Epigenetics studies how our day-to-day environment controls the expression of our genes, and thus how our bodies respond to viruses. According to Bruce Lipton, PhD, genes are the blueprints used in the construction of cells, tissues and organs, and the environment serves as a “contractor” who reads and engages the blueprints. We can influence the contractor.

It has become a cultural norm to believe that we are powerless to whatever is hereditary, that our genes come from our parents and we have no control over them. We now know that it is actually much more nuanced; the expression of these genes is greatly influenced by the health of our lifestyle. For example, even marginal deficiencies of certain vitamins and minerals such as vitamin C, D, selenium and zinc can cause a significant decline in our immune function genes. If we can influence our genes, then we have so much more control over our health than most of us have been led to believe.

As Americans, we live in a drive thru world of big gulps and inexpensive, processed food engineered to satisfy the pleasure centers of our brain. We sit for eight hours a day at work, watch four hours of TV, and then maybe slog on the treadmill. This lifestyle robs us of our sense of autonomy and control.

Epigenetics gives us back that control, and in order to move toward optimism for the future, we must capitalize on that. Every choice we make in our day to day activities determines the expression of our genes. So which expression of yourself will you choose?

Even when the pandemic is over, seasonal flu and other challenges will occur. It is up to each of us to make lifestyle choices that will strengthen our genetic expression and lead us away from disease and illness and toward longevity, wellness, and vitality.

Dr. Kerwin is a chiropractor and nutritionist who has been practicing and living in Gorham with his wife for 29 years. They have three grown daughters.

School Committee Meeting

SEPTEMBER 9, 2020

KATHY CORBETT
Staff Writer

On September 9, the masked School Committee (SC) held its regular meeting in person at Gorham High School (GHS). Covid-19 has created a unique start to the school year. In the time for public comment, Peter Shaw asked the SC for assurance that parents would be notified any time a case of Covid in the schools occurred. Student representative Zak Lembarra reported that GHS students were glad to be back. Although they may be socially distancing, they will be working creatively together. We are "separated but not divided," he said.

Superintendent Heather Perry reported that so far reductions in the state budget have not affected the state education subsidies. She also said they have applied for a grant for the Recreation Department's child care program, but Gorham may not qualify because funding is based on the percent of students eligible for free lunch. Most district positions are filled, although there is still a need for several more ed techs and playground duty monitors. She also gave assurance that Covid numbers will be updated daily.

All SC members thanked employees of the School Department and the Town of Gorham for all they did to make a successful school opening possible. They also thanked the community for contributions of supplies and for helping prepare space for outside classrooms. Phil Gagnon encouraged people to attend the upcoming Founders Festival. Bill Benson thanked everyone who worked on the bond issue referendum for capital improvements that will be on the November 3 ballot.

All five building principals reported on the preparation that was done before opening their schools. They thanked the maintenance staff, including bus drivers, for their efforts to make the physical spaces ready. They thanked the SC for the extra week that enabled teachers to be comfortable with the new spaces and new teaching challenges. They all reported on a successful first day(s) of school. Students, who cooperated in wearing masks and maintaining six-foot distances, were happy to be back with their teachers and friends. Elementary teachers were pleased with the smaller classes. Everyone said that building relationships and establishing new routines were the primary goals for the beginning of the school year.

In each school there are between 10-13% of students enrolled in the Remote Learning Program. An experienced teacher oversees the program in every school and will make weekly contact with students and families. Students can attend a weekly virtual morning meeting with the A and B members of their class.

Norm Justice, director of facilities and transportation, gave a slide presentation illustrating the work done during the summer, both scheduled projects and those made necessary by the pandemic. His staff created new storage spaces for PPE supplies. They moved furniture to make six-foot spacing possible, putting some in on-site trailers. They reconfigured space for the office, teachers, and nurses at Narragansett School and worked to finish the modular units for occupancy. He said that the new Narragansett kitchen should be completed by mid-October.

Athletic Director Tim Spear gave an update on athletic programs. The Maine Principals Association and the other relevant governmental agencies had not yet made decisions about which sports would be approved for inter-school competition. Spear outlined the categories of risk for each sport, with football and volleyball judged to have the highest risk. This school year, 277 GHS students have signed up for athletic programs and Spear summarized the precautions that are in place to keep them and their coaches safe. This includes daily screening and mask wearing except when engaging in vigorous activity. He emphasized that students will be expected to be personally responsible for good hygiene and safe distancing off the field. Due to Governor Mills' regulations that limit gatherings to 50 inside and 100 outside, there will be no spectators at games, but a media company will offer live streaming by subscription.

The School Committee voted (7-0) to approve nominations for coaching positions and for two teaching positions. They unanimously approved the Superintendent's 2020-21 Goals, the FY22 Budget Timeline, and the 2020-21 SC Meeting Schedule. They approved changes in the the policy for Life-Saving Medical Devices and Treatment and for the Management of Concussions.

teachers in the classroom and to contribute her skills and experience to what she feels is an already welcoming and warm school community.

Great Falls principal Becky Fortier said Etienne's energy, extensive experience with elementary-aged students, and passion for meeting the social, emotional, and academic needs of all children made her stand out as a perfect fit for the Great Falls School community.

"We have been working together since July to prepare for the reopening of school and I am extremely grateful for her partnership," said Fortier. "She has already gone above and beyond to develop positive relationships with staff and outreach to families. Great Falls and Gorham are lucky to have 'Mrs. E' on board."

"Both are highly experienced educators who clearly care tremendously about staff and students and who are willing to do whatever it takes to help lead our schools in a positive and relationship focused way," said Superintendent Heather Perry.

had raised concerns. In response to the objection to the use of the term Black Lives Matter, she explained the group felt the term was important because the resolution is "aimed at systemic racism." It does not "advocate support for the the Black Lives Matter organization," she said, "but rather it addresses the fact that Black lives matter."

During the time for public comment, 22 people spoke in favor of the resolution, and seven spoke against it. Those objecting felt the resolution was divisive, inflammatory, and highly politicized. Many associated the BLM movement with the BLM organization, which they characterized as a hate group and associated with calls to defund police departments. Some said that racism was not a problem in Gorham.

Supporters said that the young people behind the resolution need to be heard and that their experiences are real. A few gave examples of racism they had experienced or encountered. Others said that combating racism is a human issue, not a political one. A member of the group involved with the resolution reported that Gorham Police Chief Christopher Sanborn had no issue with the references relating to the police, and another gave assurances that the local group had no ties to the BLM organization.

The Town Council also received 17 letters prior to the meeting, 10 in opposition to the revised resolution. Many were sent by people who also spoke at the meeting and expressed the same sentiments. They were not read, but were included in the meeting minutes.

In a letter of support, University of Southern Maine (USM) President Glenn Cummings wrote that "almost 20% of our student population identify as people of color" and many live on the Gorham campus. He enclosed the USM anti-racism statement that supported the BLM movement and urged passage of the resolution proposed by Wilder Cross.

During the discussion, Councilor Janet Kuech commented that "a resolution is not a law" and spoke in favor of it. Hartwell said he could not support it, and that he was "against Black Lives Matter, but for an anti-racism resolution." Although he also did not like using the term BLM, Councilor Ronald Shepard supported the resolution. He went on to state that Gorham Police were already following the procedures advocated for in the resolution. Councilor Lee Pratt said he did not like resolutions, however, he would support this one because "the lives of Black people matter."

The Town Council passed the resolution (6-1, Hartwell) and also the one supported by Hartwell (6-1, Wilder Cross). Both resolutions can be read in full and the recorded meeting can be viewed on the Town's website: www.gorham-me.org.

A Decision on Fall Sports

COMPILED BY DESTINY COOK
Sports Editor

The Maine Principals' Association (MPA) met on September 9 to finalize the fall sports season. As football is classified as a high-risk activity, and volleyball is the only indoor fall sport, neither will be offered this fall. The MPA is hoping to provide a season for both sports in the late winter/early spring. All other fall high school sports (including golf, cross-country, field hockey and soccer) have the green light to participate.

There are new guidelines in place for schools, coaches, and athletes participating in fall sports: before starting any athletic activities, each school must receive approval from its local governing board; no indoor practices can be held; crowd size is relegated to 100 people for outdoor events; and all athletes (other than those actively playing in the game), coaches, staff, officials and fans must wear a mask.

Gorham High School Athletic Director Tim Spear confirmed, "While the state guidelines speak to the governor's orders of 100 people for outside gatherings, both Gorham Schools and the SMAA (Southern Maine Athletics Association) have mandated that there will be no spectators at any of our school or SMAA events."

The MPA also stated that for schools in any counties that have a yellow or red designation on the Department of Education's color-coded system there should be no practices or games held until they are once again designated green.

Although football and volleyball is not being offered, the MPA provided alternatives and Spear said Gorham is working to offer in-house options.

"Volleyball must be outside, so we are exploring ways to do this. Football is allowed to play 7 v 7 flag football amongst ourselves, so we plan to implement that as well for our football players," he said. The MPA also suggested a Punt/Pass/Kick Competition as an alternative for involvement.

Spear said GHS coaches were now able to meet with athletes and official practices began on September 14.

The updated list of Pantry needs for the month of September is: baked beans, kids' snacks (granola bars, juice boxes, small bags of cookies, etc.), Ensure, as well as men's and women's personal care items (shampoo, deodorant, toothpaste, razors). Backpacks for our students are also appreciated.

The Gorham Food Pantry is available to any Gorham resident; you need only visit during pantry hours with proof of residency (a utility bill with your name and your Gorham address on it – not a drivers' license).
