Gorham Votes in June 8 Election

Gorham Times Staff

In addition to the Democratic and Republican Party primaries, the June 8 election covered both statewide and local issues, with a number of referenda on the ballot. Voter turnout was said to be steady.

These are the unofficial results from the Town Clerk, available as the Gorham Times went to press.

Locally, Gorham voters chose to approve the school budget for the upcoming school year that was adopted at the Town Council meeting held June 1. The budget passed by a count of 2,491 to 679. On the second school budget question, voters chose to allow the Town Council to approve the school department's annual budget for the next three years, rather than putting the approval to voters yearly. This measure passed by a majority of 2,489 to 736.

Of the local referenda, Question 1, which would allow the town to issue a $3 million road work bond to provide funds to maintain and repair local roads, passed by a vote of 1,820 to 1,391.

Local Question 2, which would replace the town's heavy rescue vehicle, passed by a vote of 1,849 to 1,357. The total cost of the new truck would be $450,000.

Question 3 on the Gorham referendum ballot was an advisory referendum involving a proposed $1 surcharge on the tax rate to fund capital projects. This referendum question was noncompulsory, and was on the ballot strictly to gauge the sentiment of the community in regard to this proposal. It failed to pass, with 1,549 voters saying "no" to 1,438 "yes" votes.

At the state level, primary voting for the Democratic candidates for governor in Gorham was led by Elizabeth "Libby" Mitchell with 434 votes, followed by Steven Rowe with 298 votes, Rosa Scarcelli with 269 votes, Patrick McGowan with 190 votes, and John G. Richardson with 12 votes. Write-in candidate Donna Dion received no votes.

Hundreds of Gorham High School students and faculty gathered on June 4 for a "Pink Day" to honor Math teacher Dawn York, who recently lost her battle with breast cancer. Wearing pink shirts, blouses, ties, headbands, hats and dresses, the group formed hearts with their arms to symbolize the love felt for her. York, who passed away on May 31, most recently taught Algebra at GHS. The Pink Ribbon event was organized by several juniors who decided that even though they didn't have Mrs. York as a teacher, her existence and story affected them personally. York was also honored with a moment of silence at the GHS graduation ceremony.

Gorham High School's graduation took place on June 6 at Merrill Auditorium in Portland, with 203 seniors receiving their diplomas on a stormy afternoon in the port city.

The ceremony was opened with the Gorham Fire Department's presentation of the colors and featured a performance by the Gorham Chamber Singers.

At the ceremony, a moment of silence was observed in memory of several people with ties to the Class of 2010, including GHS Math teacher Dawn York.

In his Presidential speech, Colin Lubelczyk spoke about the influence faculty has on students' lives. Rachel Wilkinson gave the Salutatorian speech and Emily Southard spoke about challenging yourself in her Valedictorian speech.

GHS teacher Scott Caulfield was the graduation speaker. He spoke of the advantages and disadvantages of technology, and shared life lessons with the graduating class, weaving those themes in a speech that left many moved by his words (to read Caulfield's speech, visit www.gorham-times.com/speech).

The Class of 2010, whose theme song was Journey's "Don't Stop Believing," was the first class to attend the new Gorham Middle School for three years. According to the GHS yearbook, the class was labeled by many as "the worst class I have ever seen in all my years of teaching."

However, as Colin Lubelczyk noted, that was no longer the case.

"Our class reputation has dramatically and rightfully improved," He said. "The Class of 2010 has emerged as a cohesive group of unique individuals, well prepared to tackle whatever challenges and opportunities lie in front of us."

NEWS FROM AUGUSTA

Solid Waste

Rep. Jane Knapp

When I was assigned to the Joint Standing Committee on Natural Resources for the 124th Legislature, I was really pleased because it meshed well with my professional background. As a former teacher of biology and environmental sciences, I have always been very interested in the conservation of our state’s resources. Through the Committee I have been able to get in-depth knowledge on various issues; one of the most interesting being our current study of solid waste in Maine. Research into this issue gave me the opportunity to tour a solid waste facility in our area, EcoMaine in Portland.

EcoMaine is a non-profit organization that is owned and operated by 21 municipalities, including Gorham, which provides environmentally sound disposal services. The organization operates a single sort recycling program, a waste-to-energy facility and a landfill/ashfill.

Their 260-acre landfill began operation in 1977 as a place to bury municipal solid waste. In 1988 EcoMaine opened their waste-to-energy plant, where waste that has not been designated as recyclable is burned at very high temperatures, using environmental filtering methods. The heat generated from the burning is used to produce steam, which is then used to create electricity. The ash remaining after the burning is then buried in the landfill, essentially turning it into an ashfill.

In the Town of Gorham, the amount of waste we created in the 2001-2002 fiscal year totaled 3,914 tons, with only 13 percent being recycled. By the 2008-2009 fiscal year, we had reduced our waste to 2,192 tons, with 38 percent being recycled. This is a great improvement, but we can still do much more to reduce the amount of solid waste that is being dumped into our landfills.

A new law created during the second session of the legislature encourages recycling of consumer products through stewardship programs. Stewardship programs place the responsibility for minimizing a product’s environmental impact on whoever designs, makes, sells or uses the product.

But what can we do on an individual level to help reduce the amount of solid waste that goes into our local landfills?

Recycle.
EcoMaine offers single sort recycling, which eliminates the need to separate recyclables by category for collection, making participation in recycling that much easier. You just combine all glass, metal, paper, cardboard, and plastics #1-7 into one recycling container. EcoMaine provides large collection trailers known as “silver bullets.” The containers are usually placed at transfer stations, large parking lots, or other easy-access locations to encourage recycling.

I feel that the best thing that we can do to reduce solid waste is to be more aware of the amount of trash that we produce every day. Make a commitment to try and live by the motto “Reduce, Reuse, Recycle.” Look at the packaging that surrounds a product when you buy it; can you find the same product with less packaging? Bring a reusable bag with you when you go shopping. The more we pay attention to this issue now, the less we will have to worry about it in the future.

The following is a list of common items that you can recycle:

Paper—Cardboard boxes; newspaper; hard cover books; magazines/catalogs/phone books; paper bags; office paper; paper plates; pizza boxes; and paper shopping bags.

Plastic—Empty drink and aseptic containers; empty milk and juice cartons; gift boxes; cereal boxes; corrugated cardboard; wrapping paper; all empty containers marked with a #1-7, except Styrofoam; plastic grocery/shopping bags marked with a #2 or #4; water bottles; detergent bottles; and milk jugs.

Metal and Glass—Empty tin cans; empty aerosol cans; empty aluminum cans; foil; pots and pans; and all empty

Dear Gorham Times,

Thank you to each of you who hung a bag of food on your mailbox on May 8. 1,800 pounds of goods were collected by the dedicated postal carriers in Gorham. They deserve our thanks for their service to our community.

The Key Club members, who came in on that Saturday to sort donations, were efficient and focused, even though it was prom night. Thank you Margo and members of Key Club. What a great group of kids to work with.

And finally to my volunteer staff who came in and helped find places to store all the goods collected.

Given the current economic climate, I am sure no one is surprised to learn more than one half of the goods collected have already gone out the door.

Again thanks to all and don’t forget to donate to the pantry this summer.

Local residents turned out for the annual Memorial Day parade, May 31, honoring those who have made the ultimate sacrifice for our country. The parade stopped on South Street, where the color guard and veterans placed memorial wreaths on the two monuments at Phinney Park. It then proceeded onto Main Street to Eastern Cemetery for a formal wreath laying ceremony and remembrance. Above, Ray Reitze, Sen. Susan Collins and Jim Hughes participate in the proceedings. Assault Near Friendly Village

On May 22, a 28-year-old woman from Old Orchard Beach went willingly with a group of young men who said they were going to a party. Instead, they took her to Friendly Village and one of the men took her to the pole line area where he assaulted her. The woman was taken to the hospital for treatment of several fractured bones in her face where he had hit her with a flashlight. Patrick Hutton, 22, of Gorham was arrested and charged with unlawful sexual touching and aggravated assault. Hutton was known to the Gorham Police Department, and has previous arrests. There have been two burglaries in recent weeks. One on Gambo Road, where medication was stolen and one on Libby Ave, where blank checks were stolen and then cashed. Sgt. Mike Nault issued a summons for Peggy Rose, 28, of Augusta who used the stolen checks, and additional charges are pending for those who committed the actual burglary.

HEALTHY BODY, HEALTHY MIND

Keep the Family Active this Summer

Stacey Coleman

Summer is almost here. It's the time of year for popsicles, sprinklers, sunny afternoons on the beach, interspersed with cries of "Mom, we're bored!" Before we spin out of control, let's make a summer family fitness plan to keep kids and parents alike physically active and having fun all summer long. You are a role model. Whether you know it or not, your kids are always watching you. Even the most perfect parent can send the wrong message to their children. Children who see sedentary moms and dads reward themselves for big accomplishments with an oversized dinner, dessert, or alcohol, tend to make the same decisions as they grow. Even if you have a mile long list of fun games and activities, the kids may not embrace exercise as "fun" without a good role model. Reevaluate what you see in the mirror. Are you encouraging healthy habits or leading the family to a sedentary lifestyle full of bad decisions and unhealthy obsessions with body image? If you are having trouble identifying or changing your own unhealthy habits, seek the help of a certified personal trainer, doctor or life coach to get you back on track.

Here are some tips that could help get you and your family started: Turn off the TV, computer, or any technological device that encourages your children to spend an entire afternoon on the couch. Limit screen time to one or two hours a day. If this is the rule for children, we as parents should also be conscious of our own actions. Exercise is something you and your children need to live a healthy lifestyle. Children (like adults) need at least one hour of exercise per day to ensure proper development of their muscles and bones. Exercise should be fun for children and not a forced routine. Forced participation means that they will not choose to do it on their own. Make it fun and matched to your children's interests, whether it be a sport, dance or maybe just a game of freeze tag with mom and dad. You do not need to be a genius to be a great parent, just be creative. Try to remember games you used to play when you were a kid. Rainy days are tough, but not impossible. There are great facilities that offer indoor activities such as bowling, bouncing, or skating to keep you moving. Sign up for a family exercise class once or twice a week for the summer when your family has a planned hour of exercise together. Try an early morning Saturday family class, then head out for a late breakfast or baseball game, together. This is great bonding and healthy for everyone. Make the change now. Parents can encourage their kids to exercise by setting a good example of being active alongside their kids. Make plans to hike, bike, kayak or swim together on a family vacation instead of going to the movies, arcade or mall. Increase your gym membership to include the entire family so that exercise is a normal routine for kids and parents alike. Plan a family game night to play croquet, volleyball, bocce ball or to walk together after dinner. These are great ways to interest the whole family in being fit. If you make activity a part of your family life, you can change your child's life forever.

Imagine leaving the comfort and security of your home to live in a far away land surrounded by strangers who speak a language that is almost completely foreign to you! Imagine further that you are assigned to live with people whose routines and customs may surprise or confuse you, and that you are enrolled in a school with hundreds of students whom you've never before seen. That dream sounds a bit frightening, doesn't it? Yet that's exactly what Gorham High School's five foreign exchange students enjoyed doing this year.

On May 20, exchange students, host family members, staff members and friends met for a reception in the GHS library. The students hail from Brazil, Colombia, Russia and Austria. Each of them spoke briefly about their experiences here in Gorham. They cited the chance to take different classes, participate in extracurricular activities, create lifelong friendships, improve their English and grow as individuals as some of the benefits of their exchange. Host family members shared their unique perspective on opening their homes and lives. Each student also chose one teacher to speak on their behalf. GHS Principal Chris Record gave each student a Gorham shirt and hat while Gorham Schools Superintendent Ted Sharp presented each with an inscribed book on Maine. All seemed to agree that this was a wonderfully enriching opportunity and that the lives of everyone involved had been forever changed as a result of this cross-cultural experience.

Without the generosity of host families, the student exchange program would not be possible. The Wincele/Wood family shared their home with Katharina Gugerell. The Stirling family, as well as the French family, had the opportunity to share their homes with Gabriel Carvalho. Mateo Hernandez Almeyda lived with the French family when he first arrived in Gorham and then lived with the Keenes. Yelizaveta Salenko lived with the McPherson/St. Germain family and Fernanda Romanini lived with the Gallant family. Gorham staff members join the foreign exchange students in thanking these special people.

The official amount collected by students and staff was $1,044.54. The money will be used to support and supply schools, especially for girls, in Afghanistan and Pakistan.

A Charismatic Career Day

Lexi Trafton, GMS Student

Gorham Middle School hosted a career day on May 4. Speakers were from a variety of different jobs, including middle school teachers, a veterinary technician, a chef, an airplane pilot, firefighters, a female boxer, hockey players, a hockey coach assistant and many more. When speakers visited homerooms, they shared what they did, and what they needed to know or learn in order to do a job. They answered questions and also shared stories about their own jobs.

Many students loved the activities and new job interests.

"It was fun and exciting to learn about all the different jobs that they explained today," said GMS student Riley Allen. "It makes me realize that there are a lot of different jobs we can do and tons of opportunities that are open these days. Career Day is an amazing opportunity."

Many teachers from GMS spoke about their jobs. Mrs. Joyce, a language arts teacher, asked what the kids wanted to be when they grew up. Vice principal Hanley said if you want to work with children, you have to be specific about what type of children you would like to work with. Other teachers, including Mrs. Dawson and Mr. and Mrs. Littlefield, spoke about their work in technology and in art galleries.

Career day teaches kids that there are more jobs than the normal ones everyone talks about. Hopefully, the school does it again and shows kids many more choices.

Family Fun Night: The Way Life Should Be

Village School celebrated its Family Fun Night and Barbecue on May 14. Themed "Maine: The Way Life Should Be!" the event included Sugarloaf snow cones, a Great Lobstah Toss, a scavenger hunt based on the book "One Morning in Maine," and a Desert of Maine gem hunt. Caroline Gross, Hallie Shiers and Molly Duff (L to R) relaxed while having their picture taken at the Camp Catchya Foto booth.

Five Village Elementary students traveled to Michigan State University from May 26-30 to compete in the World Finals of Odyssey of the Mind. The team—fourth-graders Grant Hawkes and Nathan Bachner, and third-graders Trevor Gava, Felix Morrissey and Andrew Sharp—qualified for the trip by winning the Maine state competition in March. The boys competed in the Nature Trail’R division, and were required to build a human-power vehicle that had to navigate various obstacles during an 8-minute skit with a camping theme. The team built a yellow submarine, utilizing a stroller, a tricycle and hula hoops covered with fabric. Their humorous skit revolved around a cat theme. Maine Model United Nations Conference

Michael Sullivan and Mike Lubelczyk, GHS Delegates

More than 100 high school students from around the northeastern United States came together May 18 to 20 at the University of Southern Maine in Gorham to simulate an actual United Nations Conference. The Maine Model United Nations Conference was a chance for these students to show their negotiating ability in front of people who had similar interests in international affairs. The topics discussed were real-life issues that affect a wide variety of countries. Examples include preserving biodiversity, peacekeeping on the high seas and human rights for women around the world. Each student represented a country as though they were that country’s United Nations ambassador. Through lots of time and research, many would have seemed at home in Geneva, Switzerland, or at the UN headquarters in New York. The three-day event consisted mainly of committee meetings that lasted about three hours per session. The goal of the sessions was to have a resolution written and passed at the end of the conference. Although the sessions were long and often tedious, they were enjoyed by the participants. Because these sessions were long and stressful, there were fun activities to provide relief. For example, one night there was a three-on-three basketball night. There was also a dance during which students from different schools could meet new people, make new friends, and create inter-scholar relationships, while having a great time. Everyone enjoyed the conference - from the seasoned Model UN veterans to the freshman first-timers—it was a fun and educational experience for all.

Going the Distance to Help Fight Cancer

On May 7, a group of students from Gorham and Scarborough High Schools participated in the Relay for Life at USM to help raise money for the American Cancer Society. The event raised more than $6,000. Team Allstars, comprised of Haleigh Turner, Briana Custeau, Hannah Rovillard, Luke Minard, Hannah Currier, Tiffany Delisle-Watson, Jeremy Foster and Zach Heddesheimer, raised over $400. tions or perform any of the work.

The team's competition also included solving a spontaneous problem, a creativity exercise involving verbal exercises or hands-on building.

Coach Karen Hawkes said the World Finals was "an unforgettable experience."

"It really clarified the magnitude of the Odyssey of the Mind program and helped me gain a greater appreciation for creativity in all ages," she said. "The team worked hard and did their best. I was proud of their creative efforts and teamwork."

The team was among 813 teams from around the world competing at the event, which drew more than 16,000 people to East Lansing. They did not place in their division, which had 50 teams.

While at the event, the boys enjoyed presentations by NASA, creativity and international festivals, watching other teams' presentations and trading pins with teams from other states and countries.

Diane Knott, Gorham's coordinator of gifted and talented programs, said Gorham has sent teams to the Odyssey World Finals twice before, last year and once in the 1990s. (Three other Gorham teams qualified for Worlds this year by finishing first or second at the state level, but opted not to attend.)

Hawkes said she and the team members also wanted to thank the community for its support.

"We could not have done it without the encouragement and support of Diane Knott and Village and Gorham Middle School staff. We would also like to thank all of those businesses who made contributions towards our trip and the individuals and families who helped in any of our fundraising efforts to make our trip possible," she said.

Laptops Come Back Around

Leslie Dupuis

As the senior class at Gorham High School says goodbye, the laptops that have been a mainstay during their school years will also do the same. They will be cleaned up and recycled to the incoming seventh graders. All laptops will be reimaged, or erased, and an updated operating system and software will replace the previous information. All students, not just seniors, are responsible for backing up the files they would like to keep before the laptops are turned in to their respective school for summer break.

Several seniors inquired about purchasing their laptops. Dennis Crowe, Gorham School Dept. Director of Technology, explained why this is not feasible. "The laptops are leased so [the students] would have to pay off the lease and then the lease buy-out. In addition, we are going to issue these laptops to the seventh graders. If we didn't do that, we would have to purchase another 200+ laptops for the incoming seventh graders," he noted. If students are interested in purchasing similar laptops, however, the State does have a surplus and will sell them for $400.

For all returning Gorham students in grades 7-12, laptops will be reassigned in the fall and stay with the same student each year. Students in the seventh grade will be reissued the same laptop next year in the eighth grade, and so on according to Crowe.

For more information on the state's laptop sales, go to www.maine.gov/bgs/centralserv/surplus/public_sale_dates.htm

GHS Girls Tennis: Another Strong Season Jeff Pike

—Coach Sonja Frey

GHS girls' tennis team junior Natalie Egbert (above left) went 12-0 during regular season team match play and advanced to the quarterfinals of the State individual tournament. Hannah Shorty, (above right) a senior captain of the GHS girls' tennis team, has been a leading singles player since her sophomore year and finished the regular season 12-0 in team match play.

The GHS girls' tennis team, which has consistently finished near the top of the rankings since Gorham moved to Class A for the 2006 spring season, turned in another strong regular season by finishing 11-1 and ranked second in Western Maine Class A. At press time, the team had won its first two tournament games, defeating Westbrook in the quarterfinals and McAuley in the semifinals. The Rams were slated to play in the Western Maine Class A Final on June 9 at Bates College.

Leading the way for the Rams this season have been their top two singles players, junior Natalie Egbert and senior Hannah Shorty. Both players went undefeated during the regular season. During the State singles tournament, Egbert advanced to the quarterfinals while Shorty advanced to the round of 16.

“Natalie and Hannah give us two number-one caliber players,” said head coach Sonja Frey said. “They were also our top two singles players last season, and both have been starting as either doubles or singles players since they were freshmen.”

Frey points to footwork speed as the strongest aspects of Egbert's game and said that she has developed a stronger serve this year.

“I've always been quick on my feet, but my shot is more powerful this year,” Egbert said. “I'm better at drop shots and slices, and I've learned to be more focused on playing my game during each match.”

Stevens and Sawyer Strike Gold at State Track Meet Jeff Pike

On June 5, seniors Cam Stevens and Eric Sawyer closed out their senior track seasons the day before graduation in grand fashion. Both athletes took first place in the 400 meters and Javelin respectively at the Boys' Outdoor Track Class A Championships at Cony High School in Augusta. Stevens won with a time of 50.34 seconds while Sawyer won with a throw of 178 feet, five inches. As a team, Gorham scored 62 points, good for third place behind Brunswick (82) and Cheverus (66).

Also shining for the Rams was senior Jake Willis, who took second place in both the 100 and 200 meters while earning a fifth-place finish in the Long Jump. All three events were so close that if Willis had managed to shave .001 off his time in the 100, .05 off of his time in the 200, and if he added seven inches to his jump, he would have won all three events.

Willis was also a major force in helping Rams to a second-place finish May 29 at the SMAA (Western Maine Class A) Track Championships at Thornton Academy in Saco. At that meet Willis placed first in 100 and 200 meter dashes as well the Long Jump. Other first-place finishers at this meet included Sawyer in the Javelin and senior pole-vaulter Mark Walrath, who also placed second in the event at the State Championships. At the SMAA meet, Gorham finished second with 97 team points behind first-place Cheverus (106).

For the Gorham girls' track team, which finished the State Championships in tenth place with 24 points, Audrey Adkison was the top finisher with a second in the 800 meters by posting a time of 2:21.17. Jenny Thuotte placed third in the 1600 meter racewalk with a time of 7:43.12. At the SMAA (Western Maine Class A) Track Championships, Thuotte won the same event with a league-record time of 7:47.96. The girls' team finished fifth in that meet with 50 points.

The chem-free overnight celebration, organized by the Project Graduation Committee, included bowling at Yankee Lanes followed by a night of fun-filled activities and delicious food at St. Joseph's college. We want to express sincere appreciation to the following businesses and individuals whose support made this event possible. We could not have done it without you.

grade, and her game features powerful ground strokes and serves. After graduation, she plans to try out for the University of Rhode Island team, a division one college.

"My confidence has gone up, and my serve is a lot better this year after changing it last year and working on it during practices," Shorty said. "I'm looking forward to the challenge of trying out for the URI team."

Other key players for the Rams include singles player Sarah Moir, a junior who won nine of her 11 matches during the regular season. Frey has experimented with different combinations for the two doubles teams throughout the season, but heading into the playoffs, the two tandems that have emerged are senior Sarah Robinson, teamed with junior Megan Creeden, and sophomore Emily Estes, who is paired with freshmen Chloe Johnson. Estes and Johnson have lost just once since joining forces halfway through the season.

"We are a gritty team that has gutted out tough victories over teams like Scarborough and McAuley," Frey said. "For the playoffs, we have good depth if anyone is hurt. The key matches could turn out to be third singles and our doubles matches."

Egbert added, "We have great captains (Shorty and Robinson) with a lot of experience and are very supportive of each other, which should help us in the playoffs."

Shorty is also confident.

BUYING A NEW HOME

Anyone purchasing a newly built home will likely want to work with a real estate agent to clarify such matters as to whether it will be outfitted with the optional equipment found in the model home. Prospective buyers will want a complete list of standard and optional features. It also pays to know the type and extent of the landscaping to be provided by the builder, as well as the exact provisions of any warranty. A contract to purchase a new home from a builder should include specified dates for completion and occupancy, a penalty if the builder exceeds these dates, and terms of a holdback for incomplete items that are discovered just before closing on the property.

Purchasing a new home can be exciting because the buyer can move right in – provided there's clear communication about features. If you are renting, today's low interest rates make this a good time to purchase a home and start to build equity. Please call me to schedule a consultation. I can help you locate either an existing home or a new-construction home that fits your budget, lifestyle, and personal preference and work in your best interest to ensure a successful transaction. My office is located at 352 Main St.

Serving my clients with dignity and respect in a smaller, more personal environment.

When you've made the right decision, you know.

Even though we knew it was time, moving to an assisted living community was one of the hardest decisions we've ever had to make. But I knew we'd made the right choice when we decided to come here.

I never dreamed it would feel so much like home. And it's good to know we won't have to move again if our financial situation changes.

We looked at a lot of places. The moment we decided on the Inn at Village Square, we knew we'd made the right choice.
