Dr. Donahue commented on his appointment, "Gorham is a special place! I have truly enjoyed my time as Gorham Middle School Principal. However, I am enthusiastic about deepening the relationships established with our staff, students, families, and community members, and serving the community in a broader capacity. I look forward to working together with all the Gorham stakeholders to help continue to prepare and inspire all of our students."

In Search of a Kidney

Patrick and Cindy O'Shea, Staff Writers

Long time Gorham resident Dee Libbey is in search of a kidney donor. Dee grew up and went to Gorham schools. While in high school she started a career at UNUM, where she worked for twenty seven years.

Dee inherited polycystic kidney disease from her mother. This is a disorder in which clusters of cysts develop within your kidneys causing your kidneys to enlarge and lose function over time. For the past thirteen years she has been going for dialysis treatment three days a week. She explained that this is very limiting and has not been on a vacation for a long time, so she decided to do something about it. Dee talked with her doctor and he explained she needed to be healthier to be eligible for a kidney transplant. In the past two years she has worked on getting healthier and in the process has lost two hundred pounds. She said, "The opportunity to be healthier and live a normal life would be a blessing for me."

Last Thursday she was approved for a kidney transplant. She is now searching for a donor. If you have any leads for her to follow she can be contacted at rangosmama@aol.com.

May is "Bike Month" in Gorham

Gorham Times Staff

At its May 7 meeting, Gorham's Town Council issued a proclamation recognizing May as "Bike Month" in Gorham. The proclamation invites all residents of Gorham to enjoy a bike ride and learn more about the many benefits that bike-riding can bring to our community.

Bike Month also presents an opportunity to raise awareness regarding the current conditions of street safety throughout Gorham, particularly for bikers and walkers. In 2017, Gorham produced a Bicycle & Pedestrian Plan which provides an excellent blueprint for improved safety and accessibility for multiple modes of transportation.

Gorham has a well-established network of off-road trails. Mountain bikers come from across New England to enjoy Gorham's unrivaled offerings. The great success of Gorham's trails demonstrates how safe and effective infrastructure can generate increased ridership, while also producing economic activity for our local businesses.

Improved safety for bikers and walkers can improve public health and increase opportunities for community building amongst our residents. What's more: in towns, villages, and cities across our country (and across the world), there is a growing record of evidence that demonstrates safer streets result in increased community activity and more productive economic centers, as businesses tend to locate where there are people and viable market opportunities.

As compared to ever-expanding infrastructure costs for our cars and trucks, safety measures for biking and walking are relatively inexpensive, and have been proven to deliver a strong return on investment, both in terms of improved quality of life for residents, as well as moving the needle on economic development around village centers.

Gorham's Bike Month proclamation also recognizes May 13 - May 19 as "Bike to Work Week" and Friday, May 17 as "Bike to Work Day." Volunteers from our biking community plan to set up info stations along the Crosstown Trail for portions of Bike to Work Day / Week to help raise awareness around bike safety and community. We welcome all Gorham residents and visitors to be their own power and enjoy a ride this month!

For volunteering and/or learning more about biking, email Lou Simms at csimms@gorham.me.us

In Search of a Home

Gorham Times Staff

A group of parishioners from St. Anthony of Padua Parish (Gorham, Windham, Westbrook) have been helping a family (of 5) from Rwanda. The family arrived in early March, having won a green card lottery (with permanent residence). They had to sell most of their belongings to make the trip here.

Their short-term rental was no longer an option, and one of the parishioners offered to put them up in their house for 6-8 weeks (rent free) to give them time to get on their feet. Other parishioners offered them jobs, and both parents are working now to earn and save for their own housing.

They are searching for an apartment or house rental in a reasonable price range, but that seems to be nearly impossible, especially for a family of 5. Many landlords are asking for a significant security deposit, established credit history, income that is 3x greater than rent, in some cases co-signers, and many won't take 5 people in a 2 bedroom (even though the mom says "twelve Africans could live here.") There are many other roadblocks and hoops to jump through. They are beyond grateful for the help they have received, but housing is critical. They will, like too many, end up homeless if something isn't found.

Parishioner Kelly Roussel said, "They are hardworking, conscientious, faith-filled, and joyful. Their backgrounds are in professional fields (accounting, auditing, banking etc), but they are doing labor jobs here to earn and save." Roussel continued, "I've read many comments on rental groups about how easy it is to get housing if you're from Africa. Not true! There are Mainers and many immigrants and refugees in the same boat, I think."

The family wishes to extend their gratitude to the many parishioners of St. Anthony of Padua Parish, as well as the Knights of Columbus at St. Anne's, for their kindness and generosity while they settle into their new lives here in Maine. They are grateful for the opportunity to come to America and to all the residents who have treated them with kindness and respect. They are looking forward to being able to give back to the community.

If you have any information about a housing rental for this family or what can be done to address the housing crisis, please contact Kelly Roussel at findthecatalyst@gmail.com.

Protecting Mainers from PFAS

Sen. Stacy Brenner

As we enter May, we welcome warmer weather and all the outdoor activities that we enjoy and love. For me, this is the time of year I spend time on the farm, tending to the flowers. I'm also mindful that I should not take this beauty for granted. We must have a sustainable society that protects Maine's natural resources and its environment.

Per- and polyfluoroalkyl substances (PFAS), or "forever chemicals," are a pressing issue in Maine and across the country. In Maine, the situation regarding PFAS contamination has been particularly concerning. These chemicals, even in small amounts, are linked to compromised immune systems, developmental issues in children and multiple types of cancer. Maine has been leading the charge in preventing and mitigating the effects of PFAS chemicals on Mainers and Maine's natural resources.

As Senate Chair of the Environment and Natural Resources Committee, I worked with public health advocates, the business community and my fellow legislators to revisit our policies about PFAS in consumer products, particularly complex products with multiple components like cars and computers. With LD 1537, we banned whole categories of products from being sold into the state if they contain PFAS, such as personal care products, ski wax and artificial turf. At the same time, we made exceptions for products where the benefit to human health and safety at this time outweighs the use of PFAS in the product. Working through this policy took a year and a half, and the outcome was a unanimous vote in committee as well as the full Legislature. We all recognize the need to be cautious.

This session, the Maine Legislature passed LD 2135, "A Resolve Regarding the Operation and Future Capacity of State-owned Landfills," which would direct several state agencies to investigate and make recommendations on the State's solid waste management system. Data released to the Portland Press Herald shows 23 closed landfills across Maine are responsible for the contamination of 51 private drinking wells. This number is likely to grow as Maine has only tested 95 of more than 400 defunct landfills. Some of the highest concentrations of contamination in drinking wells in southern Maine include sites in Portland at 119.5 parts per trillion (ppt), Westbrook at 75 ppt and Gorham at 68.2 ppt.

LD 2135 was recently vetoed by Gov. Janet Mills, as she cited the first-ever national drinking water federal regulations from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency as a reason not to implement this legislation. The new federal regulations would limit the presence of six forever chemicals in the drinking water for all Americans. LD 2135 would have required the operator of the state owned landfill to treat the leachate being released into the Penobscot River for PFAS. Earlier last week, the Federal EPA announced that both PFOA and PFOS, two of the oldest legacy PFAS chemicals, will be listed as hazardous substances. This new definition unlocks Superfund Site cleanup money. We can improve the quality of our drinking water while also lessening the pollution of PFAS chemicals from landfill leachate, protecting our surface waters. I do not believe the two are mutually exclusive. And, I feel strongly that the tribal communities adjacent to the state-owned landfill are unfairly subjected to known contamination by the state's inaction on landfill leachate treatment. Additionally, evidence shows that contamination of surface waters leads to ocean contamination and has negative impacts on marine life and resources from the sea.

I urge my fellow legislators to help Maine adequately address PFAS contamination in the waters of Maine by overturning this veto. We must prioritize the long-term health and safety of Mainers and our environment over short-term economic concerns. I've heard the stories of too many Mainers who have been contaminated with PFAS directly (or indirectly) as a result of the sludge spread on Maine farmland and exposure as PFAS finds its way into Maine ponds, lakes and rivers. By taking a strong stand on the PFAS issue, the Maine Legislature has an opportunity to lead the way in protecting public health and the environment from the dangers of forever chemicals. Overturning the Governor's Veto of LD 2135 is one place for us to start.

If you have questions, ideas or comments, please feel free to contact me at Stacy. Brenner@legislature.maine.gov or my legislative office at (207) 287-1515. You can also follow my Facebook page at Facebook.com/SenatorStacyBrenner for more frequent updates.

To the Editor:

I met Ellie Sato this year when I answered my doorbell and she introduced herself as a candidate for State Representative in Gorham District 109. We discussed issues important to me, and Ellie was knowledgeable and an excellent listener. I felt heard.

As a senior citizen who has experienced significant and worrying property tax increases since I moved to Gorham from Windham 9 years ago, I support Ellie's commitment to increasing eligibility and the maximum benefit of the state Property Tax Fairness Credit to offset the cost of property taxes. She will work to incentivize building affordable housing, particularly with the hope that more seniors can age with dignity in their community, and collaborate with housing experts to find ways to lower housing costs.

Ellie is dedicated to ensuring the state fulfills its commitment to fund local schools at 55%. She supports increasing access to trade schools and college, protecting and increasing access to health care and lowering prescription drug prices, advancing affordable access to renewable energy, and continuing efforts to preserve Maine's natural open spaces.

I think Ellie is exactly who we need in Augusta because she is a hard worker, collaborator, a good listener, and she has been a legislative aide at the State House for Sen. Stacy Brenner, serving Gorham residents. That experience provides insight about how to get things done there and prepares her to hit the ground running.

I hope you will join me to vote for Ellie

Sato in the June 11 Democratic primary for State Representative for Gorham, District 109. Kyle Allen, Gorham

Dear Editor,

I am a 13-year-old Boy Scout in Gorham's Troop 73 and I attend Gorham Middle School. I am writing to express my concern that our nation is not using the metric system and I would really like us to use the metric system. A pound in Colorado is not the same as a pound in Western Africa because the gravitational force on each is different, but a kilogram is the same mass in each location. Teaspoons, cups, quarts, and gallons are harder to convert than milliliters and liters since the metric system is always in multiples of 10s or 1/10s.

The same issue is true with inches, feet, yards, and miles compared with centimeters, meters, and kilometers. There are many instances where using tools is frustrating because a 10mm metric socket is almost the same as 3/8" socket, but not quite, and it could damage your hardware to use a tool that doesn't quite fit. NASA lost the Mars Climate Orbiter due to a conversion issue when the computer mixed up metric and US units. Similarly, many businesses must use both systems because so much of the world is now metric. I hope that soon our country will convert to the metric system.

Daniel Deprez

To the editor,

As the State Representative for Gorham from 2012-2020, I know how difficult the job can be. It takes dedication, passion, and hard work to do it right. It also requires a person who understands the community, listens well, and is able to work well with others. Our community needs someone who has proven they will put in the time and effort that the position requires. That is why I proudly endorse Seven Siegel for State Representative.

Seven's time on the Town Council has shown me that they clearly care about this community and the people that live here. They are approachable and willing to talk to anyone about any issue. Seven will sit down and get coffee with anyone who wants to talk about issues in our community. They listen to everyone, and actively try to find solutions for the issues our community faces.

It is more than just putting in the work though. Seven has actual policy solutions for solving some of Maine's most difficult issues, like expanding housing, properly funding education, and helping those with substance use disorder. You can really tell they have done their research. I was proud to support Seven when they ran for Council, and I am proud to support them now for State Representative.

We need leaders who will set Maine up for success in the future. We need leaders who are going to be bold and courageous. I am confident that as our State Representative, Seven Siegel will lead on efforts important to our state and advance legislation that involves solutions to some of our most vexing issues. I know Seven will be a strong voice for our community and our state and I ask you to vote for Seven Siegel on June 11.

Jessie Dowling Recalls Mongol Derby

Jessie Dowling in Mongolia

Jessie Dowling had been operating a successful artisanal cheese business in Whitefield for over ten years when she happened to read about the Mongol Derby in a blogpost. Although Dowling spent a good deal of time interacting with horses as a child, she had gotten back into riding recently after several years away from it.

Nevertheless, Dowling immediately knew she would have to do whatever she could to enter and complete the August 2023 race, which travels along a remote course stretching for about a thousand kilometers (620 miles) across the rugged steppe region of Central Mongolia.

The Mongol Derby is billed as the longest horse race in the world. It is a ten-day race during which the riders stay with local yak herding families (often in yurts).

It is especially known for its challenging opening and closing segments, which involve stretches of galloping, in difficult, unfamiliar terrain. In all, Dowling rode 29 different horses in completing the race.

In an interview last September with WCSH-6, Dowling commented "I was terrified. If you see any videos, on the start line you have 43 riders, and you start at a dead gallop down a hill. I tried to visualize that for months—trying to visualize myself not dying. Because there were 43 people [who] started the race, 25 finished, 11 ended up in the hospital."

At 6 p.m. on the evening of May 16, Dowling will be at the Baxter Memorial Library to present a talk and slideshow. She will describe the intensive training process she went through before traveling to Mongolia, as well as her experiences during the race itself, which left her with a deep respect for the hundreds of horses that make the race possible. (Horses are provided by the race organizers and are paired with riders as needed along the route on a random basis.)

While in Mongolia, Dowling stayed in the homes of local families throughout much of her visit. Her presentation will additionally provide attendees with an introduction to the people of the Mongolian steppes and their fascinating culture.

The Boston Post Cane - A Tradition Renewed

John Ersek, Staff Writer

Gorham Town Clerk Laurie Nordfors recently announced that the town has decided to renew the practice of honoring the town's oldest resident. In the tradition of the Boston Post Cane, a special plaque will be given later this year to the person who is certified as the oldest resident of Gorham.

For many years, a gold-tipped ebony cane was entrusted to Gorham's oldest resident, in order to honor their longevity. This local practice was part of a region-wide tradition that began in 1909, when the publisher of the Boston Post newspaper, Edwin Grozier, decided to order 700 finely crafted walking sticks from a top manufacturer of that time. He presented the "Boston Post Canes" to the oldest resident of 700 towns throughout Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, and Rhode Island. (Cities were excluded.)

Grozier sought to institute this as a new tradition in all 700 towns throughout these four states, partially to honor the longevity of each recipient, and also to promote his newspaper. On accepting its specially engraved cane, each town agreed to honor Grozier's wishes in perpetuity, which meant arranging for the cane's transfer after each recipient's passing, as well as monitoring the cane's whereabouts in the meantime.

Originally, only men were allowed to have the canes but in 1930 the Boston Post management recommended that all of the towns should begin including women in the tradition.

Many towns throughout New England have continued to honor the Boston Post Cane tradition in the original way, using their original cane. However, some years ago Gorham decided to stop entrusting its historic cane to its oldest resident, and instead put the cane on display in the town office, where it can still be seen. According to Nordfors, the last two residents to have the cane were Margaret Tabor and Edna Woodward, who each had the cane during the 1990s.

In the announcement, Nordfors stated that persons wishing to nominate themselves (or someone else) as the oldest resident can contact the town clerk at (207)222-1670, or they can fill out a nomination form obtainable through the clerk's office. Additional supporting documentation may be requested. A minimum of ten years' residency in Gorham is required. Nomination papers will be available until May 30, 2024. As of April 30, Nordfors reported that applications had been submitted on behalf of two people, one of whom is 102 years old.

Your Garden Questions: Storm Damage in Your Garden

O'Donals Staff

Red Twig Dogwood (Cornus sericea) is a large native shrub (up to 9 ft) that is excellent for windbreaks, erosion control and wet locations. Its fruit is a favorite of native birds.

After the warmest winter on record, we were all ready to get a jump start on the spring season. A gorgeous March built excitement for Spring garden projects. But, alas, nature is unpredictable. The spring storms in March and early April dealt a cruel blow, bringing strong winds, ice and heavy snow down on gardens that were just waking up.

At the nursery, we've seen firsthand the damage inflicted on our landscapes. Broken branches, crushed garden beds, and fallen trees – it was disheartening to say the least. But now the snow has melted, the bulbs are out, and buds are emerging. It is time to address the damage to the plants in your landscapes.

Most damage to trees and shrubs will be handled by pruning. For large trees (greater than 10 ft), it is important to contact a local arborist to ensure damage is removed safely. Anything you can reach from the ground should be safe to handle yourself. We recommend using sharp bypass pruners to make clean, diagonal cuts just above a bud on broken branches. If pruning is required right at the base of the branch, leave at least a centimeter of branch and do not cut flush with the trunk as these wounds are harder to heal. For branches that have broken and pulled away a part of the trunk, prune just to the bottom of the split. We do not recommend the use of pruning paint.

Unfortunately, some of your trees or shrubs may be beyond saving. A deep split through a trunk could be left for observation on a small plant, but this is not recommended for any large tree as it will likely grow structurally unsound.

Some of your shrubs may have been snapped off right at the base. In these cases, you can wait and see what grows back, but it will likely be time to consider replacements. The good news is you don't need to start from scratch. Staff at O'Donal's can help you determine what trees and shrubs can give your garden a boost.

You may also be wondering, how can we prevent storm damage in the future? The keyword is biodiversity. Biodiversity creates resiliency in the landscape. The Maine Audubon said it well: "One of our greatest tools in fighting back and building resiliency is to increase biodiversity in our developed landscapes. As trees come down from storms or have invasive insects and other pressures, we must be ready to replant in their place. Planting a diverse range of native trees in our developed landscapes can alleviate these concerns, and they also provide benefits for both humans and wildlife."

When replacing plants in your landscape, consider choosing native species to help restore the beauty and resiliency of your garden. It's good for the environment and for the wildlife that lives there.

O'Donals is a local, independent, employee-owned nursery offering an inspiring selection of healthy and hardy plants. Our friendly, professional team is eager to answer your horticultural questions and to help make your landscaping ideas a successful reality.

Revenge of the Cicadas

Chris Crawford, Features Editor

The Broods are coming. While it sounds like the plot of a horror story, anytime from now to mid-June, more than a trillion cicadas will emerge en masse from underground in 17 states in Eastern and Southern U.S. Thankfully Maine is not on the list, yet another good reason to be grateful we live here.

This rare double emergence of the 13- and 17-year cicadas Broods last occurred when Thomas Jefferson was President and, by some accounts, will not happen again for another 221 years. As you can imagine, it is challenging to monitor such large numbers of these insects and can be an imprecise science because sometimes the Broods "straggle," arriving either early or late.

To add more confusion, there are 3 distinct groups of the Great Southern Broods which emerge every 13 years. Brood XIX is hatching this year. There are 12 individual groups of the 17-year Northern Illinois Broods (XIII is hatching this year). Illinois may have some overlap from both groups this year, a jackpot, so to speak. Illinois wasn't even a state the last time this happened.

Cicadas are about one inch long and have clear wings. There are 3,400 cicada species world-wide, but only nine utilize the unusual underground disappearing act during the juvenile stage. Seven of those species live in the Eastern/Mid-Western and Southern U.S. forests. The 13- and 17-year cicadas are distinct species. The 17-year Broods have red eyes, black bodies and orange striped wings.

And talk about noisy. People in the target areas may want to try ear plugs. Different species sing unique love songs.

Some cicada species can generate calls of about 100 decibels or more, which is comparable to the noise level of a lawnmower or passing jet aircraft, according to University of Illinois researchers. Apparently, they don't enjoy wet places, so rain will quiet them or you could sprinkle your yard and trees if they get too loud. There is no need to use pesticides, as they won't stick around for long and they do little damage.

Here is everything you NEVER wanted to know about the life cycle of these insects. The ones that are going to hatch soon were laid as eggs in tree branches in 2011 or 2007, depending on the brood. When the eggs hatched, the nymphs fell and burrowed into the ground under their birth trees, where they spend the next 13- or 17-years drinking tree sap and growing big. Too bad that wouldn't work for human teenagers. When the soil reaches 64 degrees, it's showtime. The cicadas emerge and spend a few ecstatic weeks singing their deafening love songs and breeding frenetically before they die.

Our Maine cicadas are much better behaved. According to the University of Maine website, we have four types: Says, Canadian, Linne's, and Dog-Day. They remain underground anywhere from 2-5 years, hatching in smaller, well-mannered batches annually in late July and August each year. Our little guys (the males) provide the music of late summer. The sex and then death part is the same.

You've got to love the novelty of all this. In honor of the 13-year Brood XIX, a chef in New Orleans has decided to add them to the menu. I hear air-frying works wonders.

Town Council and School Committee Workshop Report

Kelli Deveaux, Staff Writer

On April 23 Gorham's Town Council and School Committee held their scheduled workshop in which the $53.5 million school budget proposal for Fiscal Year 25 was presented and discussed. Superintendent Perry provided a detailed presentation that gave historical data, and explained state funding allocation factors, local and grant funding, additional revenue streams, and cuts that have been made to bring in a budget below the targeted 7% annual increase.

The tone was collaborative as all six councilors present posed many thoughtful questions throughout and after the presentation, all of which can be viewed on Gocat.org. Councilor Gagnon was absent from this workshop and the municipal budget workshop on April 13.

Superintendent Perry noted that there were two goals of the school committee during the budgeting process. The first was to retain staff and programming to meet growing needs and maintain quality of service that is expected of the school system by the community, while the second goal was to ensure that facilities needs were addressed to provide safe and productive learning environments. School Committee Chair Sarah Perkins explained to the group that historically the school committee would engage in discussion about increasing opportunities or programs for students, but for the past few years, the focus has been on maintaining only what is required or necessary.

Gorham continues to have the second lowest per pupil spending in Cumberland County. The state pays approximately 40% of those costs. Vice Chair McAllister noted that for salaries and other costs, the district shoots to be in the middle of the county average. The state's school funding formula is based on the state's deter-

Public Works Department Notes

Kelly Meslin, Administrative Assistant, Public Works

Please be sure to put tagged trash & recycling curbside by 7AM on your collection day.

The entire tag should be visible to Casella. This means the tag should be stuck to the bag or folded in half around the neck of the bag. If the tag is not visible in its entirety, trash will not be collected.

Please keep turnarounds free of vehicles and equipment. This hinders Casella getting in and out of roads safely and efficiently.

Please be responsible with your trash disposal. The roll off containers aka "silver bullets" located at Public Works are for recyclable materials only.

Do not leave bagged trash outside the containers. If you need help with where to dispose of unwanted items or if you have any questions regarding proper recycling or trash tag usage, please call the office (207) 222-4950, email us dpw@gorham.me.us or check out Ecomaine's free recyclopeda.

Village School Presents STEAM Night

Lexie Caddell, Educational Technician, Village School

Assistant Principal Cheryl Fotter and Principal Jodi Mezzanotte welcome families to the Annual STEAM Night Event at Village School

On April 11, Village Elementary hosted their annual STEAM night. The parking lot filled quickly as over 400 people walked through the door excited to learn, create and explore the night's activities. STEAM represents activities and education in Science, Technology, Engineering, Arts, and Mathematics.

This year's theme focused on community collaboration and emphasizing the importance of sustainability through "reduce, reuse and recycle". When this topic was introduced to our community the school was fortunate to receive enough donations of recycled materials to fully support the STEAM Night and fully functioning makerspace within our school. Students sorted and counted recycled items throughout the week to prepare for the big night.

With boxes of donated newspapers and over 100 egg cartons, Mr. Penley created seed bombs with students. Loose items were gathered for mystery bags and a printmaking activity for students to form their own creative masterpieces. Plastic bags were used to create flower prints with Baxter Memorial Library who attended for the first time this year.

Village School welcomed many new guests this year and was fortunate to have EcoMaine join in on the activities. Students enjoyed learning about sorting recycling through their relay game. In addition, Saco River Rehabilitation represented science and presented many wonderful hands-on visuals for families to learn all about Maine wildlife and create beautiful nature journals. Throughout the building laughter and excitement were heard, as well as hip-hop music from the gym where Atlantic Dance Arts represented the art of dance by teaching a fun routine to all.

This night was made possible through the generous 50+ volunteers who shared their knowledge and passion for Science, Technology, Engineering, Arts and Mathematics with the Village community. The school is especially grateful to Cunningham Prosthetics, St. Germain, and Maine, Gold and Silver for returning this year with fascinating hands-on activities for students.

GHS Spring Sports '24 Update Part I

Katie Brown, Sports Editor

Aidan Lee -100 hurdles

The transition into spring sports is off and running. All eight teams have had a few games under their belts and are off to a great start for the Rams.

The Softball team returned home from a pre-season trip to Baltimore and Tennessee where they won 5 out of their 7 games. The team kicked off the regular season with a 14-0 win at Massabessic and downed the Portland Bulldogs 9-0 during their first home game. Lily Tukey, and Andi Cloutier each had a pair of hits while Sophia Diphilippo and Sawyer Yonderhaar each had a triple. Amber Bretton allowed one hit and struck out 10. The team will re-group after two tough losses recently. They have the potential to be very successful down the stretch.

The Baseball team is off to a strong start, despite their first loss to Falmouth (an offensive-heavy team). The Rams, however, answered back two days later with a 5-4 win over Kennebunk and the following week with a gritty win over the Golden Trojans. How it happened: Mason Finck scored from second on a Caden Smith fielder's choice in the bottom of the sixth inning. Hunter Finck pitched 1 ½ innings of relief to earn the win; striking out three. Starting pitcher Casey Skolfield pitched 5 ½ innings allowing 3 hits and striking out seven. Repeat hitters for the Rams was M. Finck.

The Girls Lacrosse team is off to a 2-2 start with a recent intense match up v. Windham. The game went back and forth with high scoring action in all 4 quarters. The game was tied up 10-10 after 3 quarters. The Rams lost by one goal in this action-packed complete team effort. The boys team had a solid outing v. the Deering Rams. With the young team, their goal is to continuously improve and win games in the process.

The Tennis teams are on the road all season due to unplayable courts at GHS. Many area schools are hosting the Rams, Cheverus being one of the first schools to host both the boys and girls teams. Both the Rams teams are proving well on the road, beating Windham 4-1, 4-1 and improving their records: The Girls are 3-1 and the Boys are 5-0. Coach Landry shared, "We have been practicing on our courts. We are playing all our away matches together with the girls team so they go very long. We are making the most of the situation. The biggest impact has been on the sub varsity group." Coach added, "we will likely be 7-0 by the end of the first week in May, we are doing quite well so far." Both the girls and boys squad for Track and Field had a great season-opening meet in very challenging weather conditions. The boys took first place by 0.5 points over Portland and Noble. The girls finished third in a close 3-way meet. According to Coach Caterina, Event winners include: Ashley Connolly (100, 200 meters), Sara Brawn (400), Lily Andreasen (Jav), Nolan Feyler (100, 200, 400), Aiden Lee (110 hurdles), Joshua Wright (300 hurdles), Griffin Gammon (Jav, High Jump), Nick Munyanesa (Triple jump), and Luke Burns (Discus). The team will host senior night on May 9, the team's only home meet of the season. Class A states will take place at Thornton Academy June 1 and New England's at UNH June 8.

Celebrating Teacher Appreciation Week in Gorham

Michael Lortie, School News Editor

This week, May 6 through May 10, is Teacher Appreciation Week. Teachers and staff work extremely hard to meet the needs of Gorham's students. Educators demonstrate kindness, nurturing and extreme efforts to meet students where they are and bring them successfully to the next level. The following quotes are from interviews conducted by Kenneth Tomkins, ASPIRE Gorham Communications Director, with six GMS students. They are representative of the appreciation that students in Gorham feel for their educators. (Thank you, Isla, Fiona, Riley, Max, Grace, Palmer, and Mr. Tomkins.)

"Teachers have taught me so much. My kindergarten teachers taught me how to tie my shoes."

"Without education, we can't function. I feel that teachers teach us life skills as well as what we need for future jobs."

"My second-grade teacher was adamant about manners and first impressions and that's really stuck with me."

"I feel what makes a good teacher is someone who's willing to connect with their students, wants them to improve, and provides a safe space, to make it a safe and easy space to learn."

"My math teacher has been amazing at helping and supporting me."

"My teacher is an adult I can go to if I need support."

"I know sometimes we can be difficult to work with, but they keep us going."

"My teachers are nice, supportive, and help out with any issues that we might have or just getting us through the day if we're having a hard day."

"They are patient, nice, and understanding."

"Teachers do much more than teach you. People don't realize that."

"My fifth grade math teacher told me to never give up. That meant a lot for me, because I used to not try my hardest. Then I pushed beyond my limits."

"She had the right words at the right time."

"Ms. Ridge is my ELA teacher and she teaches what we learn about money, taxes, economy, finances, and things that will help me in later life."

"Ms. Higgins pushes us past our limits. And for Ms Dix, she's very kind and helps me out, and she just is nice to come say hi in the morning when I walk past, and for Miss Ridge is very kind and respectful of your boundaries. And she helps out the people who need help."

"They make it fun for us to learn and they show up every day and try their hardest to teach us and help us learn"

"Teachers keep us safe in a good environment and make everything by making us happy and making sure we're always at our best."

"Mrs. Joyce told me that I was good, that I worked my hardest, I've done everything I should, and I am the one who should recognize that."

"My teachers are pretty great. School is very important to me and the teachers make it fun."

"Sometimes the subjects are a little meh, but my teachers make me want to come to class. They make a great community here at school."

This is a sampling of some of the feelings that one group of students has for their teachers. Thank your child's teacher today for the big things and the little things that they do.

- We want to thank our Friends, Family and Community members who have supported us already with the various fundraisers. We're in the home stretch but are a little short on making this event great.

CHRISTINE KIMBALL

Christine Kimball went home to God on March 12, 2024. She was born in Saco on Sept. 5, 1935, the sixth of nine children of Mildred (Plummer) and Oscar Letellier. After graduation from Thornton Academy she attended Gorham State Teachers College, where she met her future husband, Ervin Kimball. They were married for 63 years until his death in 2018.

They lived in North Berwick for 4 years where Ervin taught school, then moved to Buxton when Ervin began teaching in Gorham. In 1968 they moved to the Gorham farm where Ervin's parents had lived. There was room for large vegetable and flower gardens, and lawns for family softball and volleyball games.

They were blessed with 6 children. Family was very important to Christine and she hosted many gatherings and cook-outs. She was very active in St. Anne's church and the Gorham Ecumenical Council, and was a proud Democrat.

She was the secretary at White Rock Elementary School in Gorham for 24 years, then later participated in the Gorham Schools' Foster Grandparent program. She also helped with the distribution of the Gorham Times newspaper right up until this year.

Christine was predeceased by her parents, her husband Ervin, their son James, and six of her siblings. Her sister Eva and brother Sherman and sister-in-law Patricia Letellier survive her. Also surviving are children Mary Thomas, Sharon (and Mark) Beever, John (and April) Kimball, Robert (and Kathy) Kimball, and Kathryn (and Randy) Richardson, as well as 11 grandchildren, 14 great-grandchildren, and one great-great granddaughter.

She was "Gram" to Michael Thomas, Mary Dibinga (and Pata), Susan Thomas (and Meredith Morgan), Jonathan Beever (and Laurie Pinkert), Kate Beever (and Michael Start), Emily Kimball, James Kimball, Patrick Kimball (and April), Dana Williams (and Michael), Shane Kimball (and Natasha Richards), and Ben Douglass.

Great-grandchildren include NgolelaChristine wa Kamanampata, Dibinga Said Ervin wa Kamanampata, Henry Pinkert Beever, Caroline Jane Pinkert Beever, Ethan Kimball (and Izzy Sutton), Shawn Kimball, Evan Kimball, Micah Williams, Asher Williams, Hannah Williams, Benjamin Williams, Xayda Kimball, Archer Douglass, and Maisey Douglass.

Ellowyn Kimball is her great-great granddaughter.

A Memorial service was held at St. Anne's Church on Saturday April 13, 2024. A private burial will take place later at the Hillside Cemetery in Gorham.

In lieu of flowers, please donate to the Animal Refuge League of Greater Portland, the Gorham Food Pantry, St. Anne's Church, or the charity of your choice.

Two people got into a fight during the soccer game at Gorham Sports Complex. Everything had calmed down when the officer arrived as the manager had already kicked them out.

Westbrook man was concerned about tractor trailer units that he knew came from Gorham even though a sign on the Gorham side said no thru 3 axle vehicles. Officer said police would watch it, but the man said he thought truckers take that route as the GPS tells them to. He asked how to get the GPS to change. Officer advised him he did not know.

Officer responded to Winslow Road for a domestic verbal argument about the number of people in the household and how it was getting overwhelming. Both agreed to take time for each other.

Dispatch requested an Officer assist Cumberland County Sheriff's Office with an intoxicated individual at the Circle K on Ossipee Trail. While enroute, Officer was told he was no longer needed as there was a deputy on the scene.

All subjects at a bonfire on Dundee Road were warned for having a bonfire and moved along. Gorham Fire Department put out the bonfire.

Officer responded to a report of someone shooting targets on Dundee Road. Officer told the caller that police warn for trespass, anyone who they think is conducting unsafe behavior. Officer advised no one should be making fires or shooting on the property.

Wood Road caller believed someone was walking around her household and she wanted the officer to check. Officer did not find anything suspicious.

Brackett Road caller reported seeing smoke and wasn't sure if it was a fire. Officer confirmed smoke was coming from a factory in Westbrook. The Fire Department was made aware of the situation.

Manager of a business on Main Street wanted a truck towed from the parking lot. Officer gave the store clerk the address and phone number for the truck owner.

Gray Road caller reported a large amount of trash had been put in their dumpsters without permission.

Fort Hill Road caller reported he, his wife and son were arguing. Nothing physical had occurred and no one was forthcoming about what had happened.

Man called from Saco to report he had hit a deer about 5 a.m. on Burnham Road. He was unable to find the deer. There was substantial damage to the vehicle. Officer found no sign of a crash nor of the deer.

Helm's Way caller wanted to sue someone in Standish because he was not satisfied with the Physical Therapy he was getting. Caller was advised he would have to hire an attorney and sue them civilly through the courts.

A subject was watching a movie on their phone in a parking lot on Gray Road. He told the officer he would go home. Officer pointed out that their license was suspended. Subject said they would call for a ride.

Buxton Police Department asked for help locating a silver Honda Accord with New Hampshire plates that ran from Buxton Police on Parker Farm Road going towards Gorham during a traffic stop. Officers searched Ossipee Trail and Dow Road with negative contact with the vehicle.

Caller who was building a house on Huston Road reported two unknown males approached one of his workers and asked if they were going to put windows in the house. Caller thought this was odd. He was advised to call the police if he saw the two men and to report this kind of incident when it happens.
