New USM Art Building Planned for Gorham Campus

Staff have included aerial photograph for the committee's review of the project from the town's online GIS.

At a July 7 public meeting, the Gorham Planning Board received information about a proposed three-story 34,650 square-foot art department building, which the University of Southern Maine intends to build on the Gorham campus. The general contractor is Great Falls Construction of Gorham, represented by Julie Curran.

The building would be located at the intersection of School Street (Route 114) and Campus Avenue, just down the hill from the Harlan Phillippi residence hall. The building would primarily contain classrooms and office space. In addition, artwork production facilities (such as pottery kilns and a sculpture welding area) would be constructed adjacent to the building.

Information on the proposed building had been previously presented to the planning board at its May 2025 meeting.

Besides the presentation, the July planning board meeting included a public hearing to consider the site plan review. A special exception would also be required for the project, as it is new construction for a non-residential educational use building, which would have more than 2,000 square feet of floor space. The site was formerly the location of a 1960's-era fraternity building which was removed several years ago, as it was not considered historically or culturally significant.

The location is currently zoned Urban Residential and is within the Pedestrian Overlay Zoning District. The proposed project area includes four separate parcels that the university intends to combine into one.

As of this printing, no date has been set for the planning board to vote on approving the special exception and the rest of the proposed project. The university has not announced a tentative timetable for the start of construction.

Presumpscot Regional Land Trust Seeks Input

Trout Run, Gorham.

The Presumpscot Regional Land Trust (PRLT) is applying for renewal of their national land trust accreditation. As part of the process, the Land Trust Accreditation Commission invites public input and is currently accepting signed, written comments on the application.

PRLT Executive Director Will Sedlack explained, "Accreditation shows our community that we operate with integrity and excellence. It's how we demonstrate that the lands we protect today will remain safeguarded for generations to come."

As a part of the rigorous process, overseen by the independent commission, public comments should focus on how PRLT complies with the national standards for land trust operations found in the publication, "Land Trust Standards and Practices." These standards include both ethical and technical practices. They include responsible governance of the organization, protection of the public interest with sound and sustainable land transactions and stewardship, ethical operation, accountability to donors and the public, and compliance with all laws.

The public is able to find the Requirements Manual and the 2017 edition of "Land Trust Standards and Practices" online at <https://www.landtrustaccreditation.org/>.

PRLT describes itself as a community-based nonprofit serving Gorham, Gray, Standish, Westbrook, and Windham.

As stated on the PRLT website, "We engage with communities to conserve, steward, and provide access to local lands and clean water, for current and future generations to enjoy," and "We hold conserved lands with free public access preserves that include trails and water access. We are the water stewards of the Presumpscot River watershed and we coordinate the Sebago to the Sea Trail, a 28-mile trail from Standish to Portland."

In addition to Sedlack, PRLT staff includes Toby Jacobs, program manager, Brenna Crothers, community engagement manager, and Becca Troast, development coordinator.

THE PRLT VISION FOR GORHAM'S FUTURE

As Gorham continues to grow, access to nearby natural spaces becomes even more essential. The Gorham Community Forest is being designed to serve residents of all ages and abilities, with plans including over a mile of scenic trails, accessible boardwalks winding through wetlands, and peaceful views of Indian Camp Brook. The property will offer a natural retreat within walking distance of homes, schools, and local businesses in downtown Gorham. Crucially, the project will also include a dedicated entrance for Village Elementary School, creating a unique opportunity for students to regularly engage with nature. A planned outdoor classroom will serve as a cornerstone of the site, offering hands-on environmental learning opportunities for local children. A short walk from classrooms to forest trails will open doors to science, ecology, and a lifelong appreciation of the outdoors.

Summer in Gorham

Rep. Parnell Terry

We are officially in the final heat of summer. We’re so lucky to live in such a great state for outdoor activities, where there is so much to do without having to travel far. Within an hour of Gorham, there are multiple parks and preserves maintained by the Maine Bureau of Parks and Lands as well as various local trusts, where we can fish, hike, swim, bike and play. My favorites include Sebago Lake State Park, Pineland Public Reserved Land, Mackworth Island and more. There are also several trails right here where you can take your family for walks or a picnic, such as Gambo Preserve and Shaw Park, which overlap with the Mountain Division Trail and the Sebago to Sea Trail for longer adventures. If you’re interested in seeing more of Maine outside of the Gorham area, our state manages over 700,000 acres of land with a wide range of recreational and educational opportunities, including 48 state parks and historic sites to visit. Twelve of those sites are places where you can take your family camping. Find more information regarding reservations on the Department of Agriculture, Conservation and Forestry’s website. While out enjoying all that summer has to offer, please be mindful of ticks. The Maine Center for Disease Control and Prevention warned in May that they expected an increase in tick bites this summer, following a record high we saw in 2024. Ticks can carry Lyme and other diseases. To reduce the risk of a tick bite, tuck your pant legs into your socks and your shirt into your pants when walking in woods, brush or tall grass, wear protective clothing, use an EPA-approved repellent and perform daily tick checks after any outdoor activity. If you’ve been bit by a tick, you can learn more about what to do from your medical provider and submit the tick for testing to the UMaine Extension Tick Lab. August is National Water Quality Month! Maine has nearly 6,000 lakes and ponds over one acre in size and almost 32,000 miles of rivers and streams. I’m proud to share that this year the Maine Legislature worked to protect water quality, so that we can continue to enjoy one of our state’s most precious assets. We passed legislation to align Maine’s drinking water maximum contaminant levels for per- and polyfluoroalkyl substances, also called PFAS or “forever chemicals,” with the levels set by the federal EPA in 2024. Since we first learned of the widespread PFAS contamination harming our environment, compromising farmland and contaminating our drinking water, Maine has become a leader in addressing these toxins in our environment. It is important that we make sure that we all have safe, clean and accessible drinking water. We also passed legislation this year to prevent the spread of invasive species in Maine rivers and lakes. Each year, our inland waters are increasingly threatened by invasive species that endanger native fish and wildlife and the local ecosystems, recreation and tourism they support. It is expensive and challenging for individual municipalities to address the spread of invasive species, especially because watercraft operators frequently recreate in multiple regions in and outside of Maine. To help keep Maine waters clear, LD 171 expands who can inspect boats to help reduce the spread of invasive species, provides additional avenues to the commissioners of Maine’s Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife and Department of Environmental Protection to act when there is a body of water with a confirmed infestation of an invasive aquatic plant or animal, and requires an annual report to the Legislature so we can be better informed moving forward. You can help protect Maine’s waters and prevent the spread of invasive species by learning how to properly clean and dry your equipment. For more information on how to do this, visit the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife’s website. In addition to all the woods and waters to explore close by, we are also right in the middle of our annual fair season! Maine’s agricultural fairs are a fun and educational way to spend time together and to pass on our traditions to future generations. Upcoming and within about an hour’s drive from Gorham are the Acton Fair on Aug. 21 to 24, the Oxford County Fair from Sept. 10 to 13, the Cumberland Fair on Sept. 21 to 27 and the Fryeburg Fair Sept. 27 to Oct. 5. You can find more information, including a full list of upcoming fair dates through October, on the Maine Department of Agriculture, Conservation and Forestry’s website. Whatever you do, I hope you enjoy these last beautiful days of summer. As always, please feel free to contact me at Parnell. Terry@legislature.maine.gov. I can best represent our community by hearing your thoughts on legislation and issues both in our district and across the state.

Rep. Terry is serving his first term in the Maine House and represents part of Gorham. Terry is a member of the Inland Fisheries and Wildlife Committee and the Veterans and Legal Affairs Committee.

Letter from the Editor,

Thank you to everyone who contributes in any way to the Gorham Times, including our letters to the editor. But please understand that we do not publish anonymous letters for precisely the same reason someone might want it to be anonymous. We care about you.

Community is a wonderful thing, and I do believe that there are a variety of ways in our town to overcome challenges by working together. It’s all of us together who make Gorham so special. Thank you for your understanding. Lori Arsenault, Managing Editor

CORRECTIONS:

In the July 31 issue of the Gorham Times, the article about “Seedlings to Sunflowers” contained an error about the recent Maine Community Foundation Grant. This recent grant is the Maine Community Foundation Community Building Grant, and will be used to outfit a new community room that will offer children’s and parenting classes. In the July 31 issue’s story about the GHS teacher publishing a Maine-inspired book, we got the name of our wonderful GHS graduate intern who wrote the article wrong. Abigail Chamberlin has been a wonderful addition to our team, we wish her well as she goes on to study Journalism at American University. Both of these corrections have been made in the online version of the Gorham Times.

Meet your neighbors: Kimberly and Robert Lehmann

Lori Arsenault, Managing Editor

Robert Lehmann says, "How to celebrate your 30th anniversary? Prove it really does take two to tango!"

The Lehmanns moved to Gorham a few years ago, after a new empty-nest status allowed them to downsize. They sold their home in Scarborough where they had lived since 2001 and have fully embraced the condo experience in Gorham.

Robert Lehmann, is a professor of music at the Dr. Alfred & D. Suzi Osher School of Music at the University of Southern Maine (OSOM). He has been calling Gorham 'home' since he started working at USM in 2001. Ironically, since the Osher School of Music will be moving into the new Crewe Center for the Arts in Portland, he will no longer be able to walk to work, but he's still calling Gorham 'home.'

Lehmann teaches violin and conducts both the Southern Maine Symphony Orchestra and Portland Youth Symphony Orchestra at USM, is music director of the North Shore Philharmonic Orchestra in Swampscott, Massachusetts, and conducts Maine State Ballet's annual production of "The Nutcracker." He will be performing two recitals at OSOM's new concert hall in Portland, Oct. 10, "Ocean Breezes" and March 27, "Fantasy and Folklore." Learn more at <https://usm.maine.edu/music>.

Violist Kim Lehmann is a regular member of the Portland Symphony Orchestra and teaches viola at USM. Together the husband and wife team performs as the Lehmann Duo in the U.S and in Europe.

Robert said, "One of the greatest 'perks' to my USM job is that I have the summer 'off' to pursue various artistic opportunities." Of course, for performing artists, the summer "off" really means a summer of scholarship. He continued, "In addition to performing and traveling each summer with Kim in Italy with the Assisi Performing Arts Festival, I often guest-conduct the Portland Symphony Summer Pops, perform as concertmaster for Opera Maine, and get to know many fantastic islands and properties when I play for weddings."

The Lehmann duo will be joined by their son Alex, when all three perform together at the White Mountain Musical Arts Bach Festival in North Conway, New Hampshire, on Aug. 23 and 24. Alex Lehmann recently graduated from the prestigious Eastman School of Music and will be pursuing a graduate degree at the New England Conservatory in Boston. He will perform the Quantz flute concerto, with Robert Lehmann conducting, and Kim Lehmann playing viola, and Alex and Robert will be the soloists in Bach's "Brandenburg Concerto No. 5."

Their elder son, Eric Lehmann, is a gifted lighting specialist at AV Technik and manager of the Winslow Homer auditorium at Scarborough High School.

This fall Kim will realize a long-standing dream to hike the Camino de Santiago (500 miles from France to Spain), while Robert keeps the home fires burning with a myriad of performances and teaching obligations.

She said, "This summer has been an amazing mix of traveling to Italy, eating great food there with good musician friends and making music with wonderful people, including my husband Robert. It also includes plenty of hiking and walking to ready myself for the Camino de Santiago and getting to be a proud mama as I play in the Bach Festival Orchestra while my son Alex is featured as soloist."

Don't Forget to Water

O'Donal's Staff

Weekly, deep watering is best achieved with a hose set at the base of the plant and allowed to run for several minutes. The exact length of time depends on flow rate and size of the plant.

low, sensitive root system. Our recommended deep watering encourages the roots to grow down and further out in search of water; establishing a strong, large root system is necessary for the health and stability of the plant.

During periods of heat, drought and wind, we recommend watering twice a week. If your soil is sandy and dry some plants may need more water. Learning about and understanding your soil and the moisture needs of your plants will help you care for them. Wilting plants can be a sign of under or over watering. Before watering each week, investigate the soil by digging down about 12" in depth just outside the outer edge of the plant's root ball, testing the soil moisture with your fingers. The soil should be consistently moist, but not soggy. If the soil is overly wet skip watering that plant.

Alternative methods of watering like sprinklers, drip irrigation and tree watering bags can be useful especially when hose watering is impossible. These methods rarely achieve the deep watering that new plantings require and may result in plant failure. Hose watering should always be your first choice. If you use these alternative methods run them less frequently for longer periods of time, preferably once in the morning for several hours. Check to make sure that the soil is adequately moist. Whenever possible supplement these alternative watering techniques with deep hose watering.

It is crucial to continue watering through the fall up until the ground freezes. A water-stressed plant is more vulnerable to insects, diseases, winter burn and death. Proper watering is the No.1 way to protect your investment and keep your garden thriving.

This is best achieved using a hose. First prevent runoff by building a saucer from soil around the dripline of your plant. Set the hose at the base of the plant and let it run gently so that the water saturates the soil to the depth required.

For a root ball about 1 foot across, you will need about 5 gallons of water to penetrate the root ball. You can determine your hose flow rate by setting a timer while filling a bucket of a known size. Use this information to calculate how long you should then water your plant. More water will be needed for a larger root ball. On average 10 gallons is recommended for a 2-foot root ball and so on.

Inadequate watering can cause a shallow, sensitive root system. Our recommended deep watering encourages the roots to grow down and further out in search of water; establishing a strong, large root system is necessary for the health and stability of the plant.

How to Protect Yourself From AI Scams

Wendy Bowen, Contributing Writer

As artificial intelligence (AI) becomes more accessible, it's transforming everyday life. It can automate repetitive tasks, reduce human error, and help spark creativity—making us more efficient and productive. But as AI becomes more common, it's also being used by those with malicious intent. Scammers are evolving rapidly and now use AI as a powerful tool to steal money and personal information.

Here are four ways to protect yourself from AI-powered scams.

First, protect your devices and data. AI-powered malware and ransomware attacks are on the rise. These attacks target everything from smartphones to home and business networks. Often, they exploit outdated software or trick users into downloading malicious apps or files.

Protect yourself by keeping your operating system, apps and antivirus software updated to patch security vulnerabilities. Use strong, unique passwords for every account. A password manager can help keep them organized and secure. Avoid using public Wi-Fi for sensitive tasks like online banking or logging into accounts.

Secondly, watch for fake profiles online. AI is being used to create convincing fake profiles on social media, dating apps and even professional networks like LinkedIn. These profiles often include realistic photos and detailed backstories, making it hard to tell if they're real. Once trust is gained, scammers may ask for money or sensitive information.

Protect yourself by using reverse image searches (such as Google Reverse Image Search) to check if a profile photo is stolen or widely used online. Instructions on how to do this can be found by going to Google Reverse Images and putting in a photo. Be cautious about oversharing personal details, especially with people you don't know well online. Look for red flags such as overly generic messages, unusually fast responses, or inconsistencies in what they say.

Thirdly, verify chatbot interactions. AI-powered chatbots are increasingly used in customer service—but scammers use them, too. Fraudulent chatbots can pose as banks, retailers or government agencies, tricking victims into giving up credit card numbers, Social Security numbers or login credentials.

Protect yourself by always verifying the source. If a chatbot contacts you unexpectedly, check the company's official website or call customer service directly. Don't share sensitive information through a chat unless you're sure it's legitimate. Check the website URL—scammers often use URLs that look similar to real ones but include small misspellings or unusual domains.

Lastly, be skeptical of "too good to be true" AI tools. Some scammers promote AI services that claim to manage finances, invest in cryptocurrency or trade on your behalf. These tools often sound impressive, but most are unregulated and high risk.

Protect yourself. Do your research. Verify the credibility of any AI-based financial service before sharing personal or banking information. Understand that even legitimate AI tools require human oversight—no tool can guarantee profits or risk-free returns.

AI is a powerful and promising technology, but it can be exploited by scammers just as easily as it can help consumers. Stay informed, be cautious and trust your instincts. By taking basic precautions and asking the right questions, you can protect yourself from AI-based fraud and avoid becoming a target.

Planning Board Results

Kathy Corbett, Staff Writer

In the only action at the Aug. 4 meeting, the Gorham Planning Board voted to approve the final subdivision and site plan for the Stargazer Subdivision and South Gorham Crossing Condominiums on Blue Ledge Road, within a Contract Zone and South Gorham Commercial Corridor (5 ayes, Walsh, Delaney absent.) The project includes 12 age-restricted single family dwelling units and two mixed -use commercial buildings. In a separate vote (4 ayes,1 nay, Hager) they waved off-site sidewalk requirements for the project to pay in lieu fee.

August Town Council

Gorham Times Staff

The Gorham Town Council held their monthly meeting on Aug. 5, 2025. Chair Phillips and Councilmen Lavoie, Gagnon, Siegel, Simms and Willis were present. (6)

There were between 30-40 members of the community in the audience. Most were there to address concerns about the effects of dust, noise and ground movement from a quarry near to them. They requested a meeting with the quarry owners and town officials and closer monitoring of the environmental effects.

The council voted 6-0 to amend the Land Use and Development Code to standardize the front setbacks of roadside stands to 25 feet.

They voted 6-0 to adopt the Code of the Town Of Gorham codified and consisting of Chapters 1-305. This is a continuation of the Code by these ordinances and not new enactments, but, as explained by Ephrem Paraschak, the Town Manager, will allow the ordinances to be converted to an on-line digital format.

The Town Council endorsed 6-0 a charitable gambling application for the Reed Allen Community Fund Casino Night on November 1 at the Junction Bowl. As explained by community member, Mark Curtis, this organization donates 100 percent of their raised funds back to the community.

The council voted 6-0 to allocate interest from the revolving Loan Fund back to the fund for future use.

There was a long discussion on the proposal to send to the planning board a change in zoning for a six-acre lot of land owned by the quarry from urban residential to industrial. Many of the same property owners expressed concerns about enlarging the existing quarry when there are so many neighborhood concerns. The town manager did state that his staff has visited the quarry and all numbers are well below the levels set by the state. There was further discussion about a proposed meeting with the quarry and the neighbors with the town. The council voted 6-0 to send this to the planning board ensuring that there will be further action taken including public hearings, a site walk and town monitoring of the situation.

There were other proposals sent to the planning board including mixed use development in the South Gorham Commercial Corridor District (5-0) and the dimensional standards for gross floor areas of non-residential-use single-story structures (5-0) and dissolving a contract zone for a property owner to address a utility issue.(4-1)

Councilor Simms sponsored a proposal to review Gorham's Mobile Park Ordinance which had not been changed since 1987 and to consider restricting excessive increases in fees and directing landlords to invest in proper maintenance of the properties. The committee voted 5-0 to refer this to a discussion about the policy before action is taken.

The Town Council accepted the resignation of Chris Kelly from the GEDC and appointed David Golden to the GEDC, with the term set to expire on April 1, 2027. The council thanked Chris for his ten years on the committee and his service to the community.

Where they are now: Ryan DeSanctis

Michael Lortie, School News Editor

Ryan DeSanctis is a 2019 graduate of Gorham High School who has spent the past six years studying architecture at Roger Williams University in Providence and Bristol, Rhode Island. This past May, he graduated with a master's degree in architecture and a graduate certificate in historic preservation. DeSanctis is the son of Dino and Mia DeSanctis of Gorham.

DeSanctis first graduated from RWU in 2023 with a Bachelor of Science in Architecture and a degree in art and architectural history. "Staying at RWU for a master's degree just made sense to me. I already had great relationships with professors and knew what the studio culture was like. And the certificate let me go deeper into preservation," he was quoted in a 2025 Graduate Blog titled "Made At RWU: Two Architecture Degrees, Historic Preservation Certificate and a Vision For the Future Built Environment" provided by his parents.

At Roger Williams, he had a variety of experiences ranging from the urban developments of Providence to the historic buildings of Newport. From there he took the opportunity to become familiar with the architecture of New England.

While pursuing his master's degree,

DeSanctis took on a role as a graduate research assistant at the Cummings School of Architecture, where he worked on architectural documentation and historic preservation projects. "RWU's architecture program was full of field opportunities. I didn't just sit in a classroom - I worked on real buildings, on real problems, from day one," he stated in the blog.

He also took full advantage of RWU's study abroad programs. He participated in a two-week program in Brazil and visited Switzerland through his graduate studio, broadening his global design perspective. "That trip really gave me context for what we learn in class. You see how buildings reflect culture, history, politics - everything. It was amazing to see how different cultures approach preservation and design."

DeSanctis has returned to Maine and to a full-time position at Port City Architecture, beginning his journey toward professional licensure. When asked what advice he would give to incoming students, he stated: "The best advice I could give is to just say 'yes' to things. Especially when it feels like a challenge or something outside what you're comfortable doing - that's usually where the growth happens."

Gorham Schools Named One Of The Best Work Places In Maine 2025

Press Release by Donna Nupp, BridgeTower Media Group

The Maine State Council of the Society for Human Resource Management, Best Companies Group and BridgeTower Media have named The Gorham School Department as one of the 2025 Best Places to Work in Maine. Best Places to Work in Maine identifies, recognizes and honors the best places of employment in Maine in three categories: small employer companies (15-49 U.S. employees), medium employer companies (50-249 U.S. employees) and large employer companies (250 or more U.S. employees). The Gorham Schools have been recognized in the Large Employer Group. Best Companies Group managed the overall registration and survey process and also analyzed the data and used their expertise to determine the final rankings. There were two parts used to determine the rankings. The first consisted of evaluating each nominated company's workplace policies, practices and demographics, worth approximately 25 percent of the total evaluation. The second part consisted of an employee survey to measure the employee experience, which consisted of 75 percent of the total. The combined scores determined the top companies and the final rankings. The final rankings will be announced at the Oct. 7 awards celebration.

8-10 U Softball All-Stars Make It To Regionals Two Consecutive Years

Katie Brown, Sports Editor

U 8-10 Softball All-Stars competing in New York for the Regional Title

Incredible softball was played this past month. For the second year in a row, the 10U Softball All-Star team clinched the state championship while going undefeated beating Saco 7-0. The team and their families traveled to SUNY NY, where they continued to dominate. They swept their pool play with wins over MA 12-2, RI 3-2, and a shut out against Vermont. According to Tyler Berthiaume, the all-star team was one of three teams in both regions to finish up with a 3-0 record. Based on runs allowed, they started in second place in the New England bracket, getting a first round bye. They matched up against Rhode Island, whom they beat 3-2 in pool play. Their play continued with a big win on July 29, 7-5 against Rhode Island, in part due to clutch hitting and a hard fought battle under very hot weather conditions in a New York heatwave.

On July 30 Maine and Connecticut went head to head for the New England championship. The winner (eventually CT) moved on to play the Mid-Atlantic championship for the Northeast title. According to the Little League Facebook page, Team Maine takes home second place in New England after their first and only loss of the season. The girls are holding their heads high, as their 12-0 run put them in the top four teams out of 35,000 throughout the northeast, an incredible accomplishment to close out a stellar season. In almost 70 innings of play, they outdid their opponents, ending with 100 hits and 113 runs while only allowing 19 and 26 respectively. More importantly, they had a blast. Thank you everyone for your support all season and for all the words of encouragement this last week. Congratulations to the girls, and a huge thank you to the coaches. Way to make Gorham proud.

Gorham U12 All-Star Team To Play in Wood Bat Championship

Katie Brown, Sports Editor

U12 All-Star District champs with the Varsity team

The Gorham U12 Boys All-Star Little League Team's recent experience exemplifies the definition of resilience, particularly facing unexpected difficulties and displaying toughness. Their summer baseball road has been a journey to remember. Here is a breakdown of their wins and losses on and off the field and what the team is up to now. The All-Star team won their District 6 championship, which was no walk in the park, defeating tough opponents. This district win moved them on to compete in the State Championship. Planning on a 3 - 4 night stay in host town Machias, a four hour one-way drive, the team settled into their overnight accommodations. Gorham had two landslide wins against Old Town and York and lost 3-2 to host town Machias. This put them up against York again; with a win they would move on to compete in a championship round with Machias. Thirty minutes before the York game, the team was informed they were no longer eligible to play in the tournament. It was heart breaking news for a group that had a lot of success and just wanted to play baseball. They were disqualified due to not meeting the minimum game requirements during the regular season. Several sources say that the team faced challenges with the number of available playing days due to weather and the limited number of fields that lacked lights. The boys and coaches had plenty of hometown welcoming and support from an entire sports community that overreached Gorham and Maine. Coach Todd Bacon, expressed; "the boys have bounced back and have shown a lot of resiliency since being disqualified from the tournament- they deserve all the support." On July 29, prior to the GHS Varsity team Wood Bat League semi-final game; the team was recognized for their District 6 championship. They joined the Varsity team in a pre-game celebration, team photo and stuck around to watch the semi-final game. Gorham advanced to the finals, with an eventual 3-1 win over Falmouth to clinch the title. The U12 All-Star team ballplayers are also representing Gorham again this time in its first season of their own Boys of Summer Wood Bat League. The team is undefeated and looking to win its first championship in this league. The team coached by Todd Bacon, will play a very good Lake Region team in the finals on Aug. 13. While their time may have been cut short in the Little League tournament, they remain playing together competing until the end of summer, making Gorham proud.

Gorham PD has repeatedly gotten complaints from the residents of Middle Jam Road about speeders ever since it was paved. Yesterday alone we got two more, both saying that different vehicles at different times were speeding outrageously. Officer sat running stationary radar from approximately 0600 to 0800 (made this call record at 0700) but did not observe any significant speeders. The fastest car was going 36 in the 30. More importantly, several residents stopped beside officer to thank us for being out there, and a few dozen drivers now know we are in the area.

Officer observed a turtle in the middle of the road on South Street. Officer helped move it off the roadway.

An individual called Dispatch to report that she just lost her light-gray cardholder. She also said it was on the top of her car before losing it.

Individual called in to complain about vehicles not pulling up to the white line at a red light, and he wanted a sign up to state that people needed to do so. Officer explained the difference between alternating lights and weight-capacity lights and that he should speak with Public Works. He stated he would.

Caller reported a possible disturbance across the street. Officer made contact at Day Road with the homeowner who said an individual and friends were playing manhunt in the woods near the property. Everything was all set.

Dispatch received a call regarding a man metal-detecting in the cemetery near Gorham House of Pizza. Another officer advised that the individual had permission in order to find something he had lost.

Officer found an individual sleeping in his van down by the river. He did not appear to be under the influence or doing anything other than sleeping.

Officer spoke with caller regarding a harassment order. Caller explained that he had been served such an order, telling officer that an individual had messaged him over Facebook Messenger. Officer informed caller not to contact the individual due to the order and explained the process for him to get a harassment order on her through the courts.

Dispatch received a call regarding a black-and-white dog that was loose on Main Street. They reported it to be around 5 houses away from the GPD. Officer stepped outside to look, but not see or hear any dogs. There were no further complaints or inquiries about a loose dog the rest of the day.

Caller contacted Dispatch and requested extra patrols of Sanford Drive due to someone telling her of suspicious activity. It was reported that two males were riding bicycles in the area when the caller was closing.

Officer received a call for a welfare check. Officer then proceeded to the apartment to check on the individual. Upon arrival and contact, the individual was frustrated that the police keep showing up at his apartment. He told Officer that he was fine and that he had also been trying to reach his only friend.

GPD received a welfare check request from an individual who advised that another individual had mail piling up. Individual was alive and well in no need for police, fire, or rescue. After confirming that she was okay, Officers left the house and cleared.

Caller was wondering what the areas were for shooting turkey. He wanted to shoot some in the area of a private residence field. Officer informed him that he needed permission prior to and it should not be within regulation of the residence.

Individual called in wondering what to do about his landlord towing two of his vehicles. Caller was given written notice by his landlord that his two vehicles needed to be registered, inspected and repaired or else they would be removed from the lot. Despite getting them registered just the day prior, the vehicles were still removed. Officer advised that this was a civil matter that caller would be best served addressing with legal counsel. Officer recommended he prepare his documents including any contracts he may have and the rental agreement that was made.

Officer found a male walking with traffic on Ossipee Trail towards Northeast Road. He was dressed in athletic gear and a head lamp. Stated he walks ten miles most days. We cleared the check with no report.
